

The Seth Forecast for 2013

1-1-2013 5:55 PM Pacific

Thank you for joining us. Now these messages pertain to a certain demographic of the pool of humans on Earth at this time. We are now creating these manuscripts for those of you who are waking up. In other words, you are not sleeping, as are most of your peers. You are not listening to the propaganda of your leaders. You are earnestly looking at your existential Issues, the reasons you are here. You are resolutely looking at your Lessons and attempting to learn them for what we call “the highest good of all.” Therefore, if you are among this Vanguard of awakening humans, please read further.

Scientist of Consciousness

If you are still with us, might I suggest that you are one of these magicians, shamans, witches, and healers of all types that I speak of incessantly in my new books? As such, you may also be using my material as an aid in your explorations of your changing Personal Reality Field. Further, if you are this type, the Scientist of Consciousness type, you see, I would also suggest that you are seeing some dramatic changes in this projection of your mentality into the 3rd Dimension that you call “my life.”

We are calling this new consciousness that you are experiencing, the Post-Shift Environment. In last year’s Forecast I stated “The old paradigm is ‘blown away, to coin another term we enjoy. The personal and collective Truth is presented there for all to see.” Do you see? It feels different than before, even just a few months before, does it not? As I have said and will reiterate, you are, as my students, on different trajectories of Soul Evolution. Yes, you are each at your particular place in your awakening. However, I may draw attention to some changes in Reality Creation that ALL of you, all of my readers, have most probably already noted in your observations and in your Findings.

This Time It’s Personal

This Forecast, then, will appear as a departure from others I have created for you over the years. For “this time it’s personal,” to coin a phrase that Mark enjoys. This time it is indeed personal, for those of you doing your valuable work in self-exploration, attempting to embody Loving Understanding and Courage moment-to-moment, are contributing to a growing collective, a collective of awareness. Yes, the awakening experience IS personal. You are transforming your personal Issues into creative power.

Now, there is a growing consensus that you may move forward as a group to transform the Issues of the collective. I am speaking of all of the collectives of which you are a part. You might say that you are now taking it personally when your collective is threatened, becomes unbalanced, and so on. You may indeed extrapolate this felt sense to the ultimate collective in your system: the Mother Earth, for your Earth is being threatened at this time. As you move out of the domain of your personal Issues into the domain of the collective, then, you are taking it personally. The Earth's concerns are now your concerns. The Issues that trouble the collective of humankind, are now your Issues. The time for isolation on your private paths is over. This you already know. And please tune-in to the subtext of these words for the important meanings I have placed there for you.

Part I

The Social Domain

Modern Culture

Beginning with the Social Domain, let us attempt to see where the important changes will be felt in your societies, in the West, primarily, but everywhere generally. The Post-Shift Environment exhibits the culminations of the trends I have identified for you in the past. Please allow me to speak first in general terms, then.

The Neotribal influence is having an impact, on what we may call, the corporate influence. You do know, as a modern researcher of your culture, Dear Reader, that the collusion of your political activities with the business activities, and for that matter, even with the activities and practices of the mainstream religions, has created a monster, of sorts: a monster of authoritarian control and extreme avarice. This you may call the culture, the modern culture. We will cover the separate domains shortly, here let me simply say that your society is a toxic collective. The society has molded itself to reflect the needs of this authoritarian monster. And so we see that violence is pervasive in your media, as well as your society. War is glorified. Domination of the Other, of nature, of the Earth herself is celebrated. You are in a sorry, sorry state, then, in so far as the living culture of the modern countries is concerned.

Of course, we are mainly describing your US, but also in Great Britain, in Europe, in the other modernized countries, this sickness is pervasive. Consumerism, celebration of violence, as I said, neglect of the elderly and disabled, all fueled by this desire of your governing elites and their masters, to take all that there is to take, FOR THEMSELVES ONLY.

The Average Citizen

Now what of the average citizen, as we say, the normal human Soul attempting to thrive within this toxic culture, this world culture. First, I must say that it is partly the fault of the Average Citizen that you find yourselves in the chaos that surrounds you. For through a tacit acceptance of the so-called “truths” and “news” propagated by your numerous Negative Media, many average humans in your world have neglected their responsibilities to seek out the real truth, the essential truth of the matter. It is easier to believe the authority figures. Critical thinking is not required to merely obey. That part of the human mentality, then, seems to be sleeping in large numbers of you. And so rather than resist and protest when you hear of some violation of fundamental human rights, upon yourself, upon your family, upon your neighbors, or upon others in foreign lands, many of you are silent. This group silently sits by as they are stripped of their rights. They believe, you see, what they are told, and the authority figures in politics, in the Negative Media, in the churches, are telling these people that everything is working out the best that it can. They control this group with promises, with lies, with threats and warnings.

The Vanguard Awakens

Now there does exist among the average citizens around the world, this vital subset of the larger collective. This small group I have called the Vanguard in my writings. These humans are waking up to the truth of the matter concerning their individual lives on Earth, obviously, but also concerning the collectives of which they are a part. I direct you to past Forecasts for descriptions of this group. “You know who you are,” to coin a phrase. This is old material and so I will focus on where you find yourselves now in this new epoch, the space we have termed the Post-Shift Environment.

Self Authority

In this subset of the greater collective self-authority rules. Within the awakening consciousness, a connection to what we call the Ancient Wisdom stream is made available. The researcher learns how to find their own answers, rather than consulting authority figures. They learn how to take their own advice. In this way the awakening one becomes autonomous and empowered. As they refuse to cooperate in authoritarian exchanges, the need comes to replace obedience with something more genuinely satisfying to the Soul. This state of consciousness would be, as I see it, an embodiment of self-informed dignity, integrity and humility. Courageous Loving Understanding of self creates awakening, then. This empowered awakened Soul is charismatic, a combination of awakening personal power and humility.

Remembering Lives

The Post Shift Environment is a state of consciousness. The perspective is one of witnessing, in a comprehensive fashion, one's many re-incarnational existences. These images, emotions and thoughtforms from the other lives are experienced as bleedthroughs, at first, in that they are quite faint and somewhat difficult to decipher, to interpret in meaningful ways. I have suggested in the past that these bleedthroughs feel like de ja vu experiences. You feel as though you are re-experiencing something you have experienced in the past, but now it has a heightened sense of reality to it, an almost super reality, if you will. These percepts are difficult to grasp, however, for they last merely a fraction of a second, at first. The momentary awakenings become more frequent over time, until you may rest within them, and thus extend their duration for moments, minutes, hours.

Past Lives

The New Consciousness is a term we have used to describe this Post-Shift Environment that some of you are witnessing. Some indications you are in this space: total strangers have a familiarity to them, in that, you are certain you have never met before, but you smile at one another affably, naturally, perhaps as you walk down the street to the grocery store. You are bemused at this time. "Where have I seen that person before?" you say to yourself. If you are diligent, you might answer your own question. The odds are quite good that you are experiencing the New Consciousness that allows recognition of Past Life associates in new bodies in your current timeframe. You do know that reincarnation, in my theory now, works to the finest detail throughout time. This is true, such that each and every human you come in contact with in your waking and dreaming worlds, represents other Souls with whom you are interacting in other lives. Again, this is old material. Let me move on.

The Post Shift Environment

We will take it for granted, then, that you are in this Vanguard. What can you expect in your social groups in the New Year? You will experience Social Friction, as you literally "rub people the wrong way" with your outlandish ideas about the New Consciousness. Yes, because you are compelled to find others like you, others who are also awakening, you will put feelers out to people you meet in your waking reality, in your Personal Reality Field, in your online world. As you put out these feelers, you will have effects on the consciousnesses of those you are attempting to address.

Resonance

As you know, Resonance is operative in all of your Reality Creation efforts in the 3rd Dimension. Thus, suppose you are this awakening Soul that I am describing and you are attempting to make yourself understood to one of these strangers I spoke of earlier. If the stranger is on a different stage in their awakening than you, there may be this friction, in which they feel uncomfortable with you as you state your case. Your personal frequency is interacting with the personal frequency of the stranger, you see, as Resonance seeks a sort of “common ground,” something you can both agree on, let us say. It may take your intentional projection of this personal frequency of yours to assist the other person in coming up into awareness. Yet first, there is this, as I said, Social Friction you may experience as the Other, the other person, you see, considers dropping their guard, their cynicism, their denial, and so on. My advice is to stay with it, without creating a scene, of course. Please do not infringe upon others for your own egoic concerns. Again, Mark, I am being somewhat humorous, here.

Mark: OK

GA, Sumari and the Post-Shift Environment

Where will you then be with regards the GA/Sumari influences in this New Consciousness? If you remember my last statements on this issue of bleedthroughs from the Divine Matriarchy of GA, you may recall that I suggested you might witness some beneficial aspects of this Mystery Civilization if you wished. You get what you focus on, that is a law, I might say, within your system. Thus, I suggested that if you were to consider possible or probable lives lived during that timeframe, you might help this process of communication with Past Lives. The more you entertain thoughts of contact, the greater the likelihood that you will find evidence of these lives in your Personal Reality. This is how it looks, then, from my perspective...

You are influenced by your family of consciousness, what we are calling the Soul Family in the new books, to experience your life in the way of the Sumari. These are creative personality types, who enjoy researching what they Love. They create systems, primarily, but do have a difficult time keeping the systems going, if you get my meaning. To maintain these systems, then, the Sumari - the Vanguard, you see - enlist the assistance of others whose main Love is keeping the systems functioning. That is the background.

Now from my perspective, again, in your social systems that are being founded currently, I do see these Sumari types, guided by the influences of the GA peoples - the Visionary Leaders - as flourishing. Indeed, within every metropolitan area, there is this return to the Ancient Wisdom practices I have noted in my new books. You are banding together with others of your inclination to assist in creating the highest good for all, and empowering those who may have skills that you do not, to keep these social systems operating.

The Post-Shift Environment, then, for this tribe of Sumari types, seems to be one of intensely creating social systems to replace those that are falling apart. The glue, so to speak, that you use to create cohesion in this system is the electro-magnetic power of the Telepathic Network. There is a Holographic Insert there to illustrate what I am attempting to get across to you. Also, you are learning to value the views of others who are totally unlike you: Love with a capital “L,” you see. The effort of societal reconstruction demands collaboration and Loving Understanding between participants. You are motivated to sacrifice egoic concerns if they stand in the way of the greater good.

Now I am presenting this material in an intentionally vague manner. Please consult my past Forecasts and do your research. Use what you can, and save the rest for a later time when the need to use it arises, as it may indeed arise if I am successful with these communications of mine.

An Example: These words may seem unclear at this time. Yet suppose you have a small awakening in the coming few days, one in which you DO begin to understand? Might I suggest that you would then be enjoying an expansion of belief? You may also be responding to information from your Higher Centers of Awareness, your Guides, or re-incarnational lives. In the Post -Shift Environment, all of these communication streams come together to inform your awakening consciousness.

Predictions

As the Sumari types create new social structures to fulfill the needs of the growing community of awakened humans, they will be held in check by the Powers That Be. The inertia of vested interests will impede progress, therefore, throughout the year. But the cycle of renewal is begun in all of the domains. Therefore, you could say that this group will be laying the groundwork for establishing a new comprehensive social structure that is responsive to the needs of all citizens, rather than only to those who are wealthy, have political influence, and so on.

I see that many of the Visionary Leaders who are attempting to embody Love and Courage as they seek to transform the social system, will be criticized by the authorities. They will be branded as a danger to society in 2013, therefore, and persecuted. It is an old story. Consult your enlightened history books for stories of what befalls the truth teller in the societies of your past.

Part II

The Political Domain

The Election in the US

Now here we may be more forthright and clear in our pronouncements. The vagaries of past life bleedthroughs are less evident in the political theater that so enraptures and deludes you in the US and other nations. Yet if you look closely you will also see the re-enactment of old re-incarnational dramas of power and conquest.

First the election... In my last forecast I suggested that there was a probability that your president in the US would suffer from the Secrets Revealed phenomenon and lose the election because of this revelation. This probability was highly likely, even into the final few weeks of the campaign. Indeed, however, a weather event intervened, taking the focus of the people off of these issues of integrity and so on, while putting the focus on the candidate as “healer,” “uniter,” etc, etc, etc. The tide turned, in other words, and the Second Term was won.

Re-incarnational Dramas

As I said, there are these ancient re-incarnational episodes of power and conquest being played out on the national stage. Briefly, the struggle is between the ruthless power mongers, and the people, the common citizens. As the Vanguard awakens, they will challenge the political structures that serve to monitor them, enslave them and remove their rights guaranteed in the historic documents. You may see this activity now as your protest movement against the Federal government continues to bring up these ideas of self-determination and freedom from corporate and governmental control. States rights are emphasized. Yet currently the Negative Media controls the airwaves. Your radio and television programming is determined by these elitist interests in your government, in the corporations, in the churches, and so on. It is only on the Internet that you may read of these exploits of this Vanguard. During 2013 they will make some gains in their attempts to reveal the misdeeds of the power elites.

The Turnaround Stifled

The turnaround in your political collectives is ongoing, just as we described last year, but this movement has been stifled to a great degree by the people in power. The voting process in the US, and indeed, in many other countries, has long been compromised. This is not new information I am providing to you Dear Reader. The political theater that consumes your interest is quite noticeable during the election year. But in large measure, the decisions have already been made by those in power. Your electoral process is simply window dressing for what is truly going on in the offices of power. A dismal view, yes. But there is hope in these Visionary Leaders I speak of who are demanding entrance to these offices of the rich and powerful. Again, you will not read of their exploits in your newspapers or on your news shows. Do your research, is my suggestion, and support these humans who are working on your behalf. Indeed, I suggest you emulate them and go about leading by example for the highest good. This would be the role opposite that of the frightened, complacent, uninformed and un-awakened human.

Secrets Revealed Thwarted

In 2012 your revealers of secrets on the national and international levels were thwarted. So-called whistleblowers were imprisoned, punished, denied their basic rights. These Visionary Leaders are still leading by example, however. My suggestion is that you support them and follow their lead. This natural process of Secrets Revealed is quite necessary to identify corrupt leaders and push them out of their power positions. By following their lead, you too become a Visionary Leader. Simply assume this role, acting as if you are of this type. Ask for direction on what to do next and believe that it will come to you from your source. That is my advice.

Politics in the Post-Shift Environment

Now generally, with regards to the political structures around the world, in all countries, the situation will improve for the common citizen. Many countries are at risk for revolutions of the classic style. This means that the leaders will continue to attempt to control their populations, yet will find it increasingly difficult to do so. In the Post-Shift Environment, even the ruthless leaders, who have nothing but their own interests at heart, will feel the effects of The Shift in Consciousness. In some of the more authoritarian regimes, there will be conflicts between the armies that support the regimes and the awakening public, the average citizens, again. Yet, as I said last year, the Tipping Point was reached some time ago. The old values are being reconsidered, even those values of the tyrant who rationalizes their actions as they subvert the will of the people. In other words, everyone is feeling this Shift to some degree. Those who have much to lose will deny the most and “go down fighting,” so to speak. In the so-called “democracies,” there is the potential for less resistance as the Visionary Leaders infiltrate the ranks of the corrupt and greedy.

Predictions

The Hidden Government that rules the world will become known to all. The heads of government who conspire to take the wealth of the planet for themselves and their associates, will be out in the open in 2013. There will be no need for subterfuge, for the consensus of opinion is that they are free to fulfill their agenda of world domination. I said in last year's Forecast that the Shadow Government would create havoc as an indicator or show of power of their extreme dominance over the governments and peoples of the world. This will continue in 2013. That is as much as I will say on this matter.

Part III

The Economic Domain

The Fall of Feudalism

In the economic domain there is much activity as the governments of the world, with few exceptions, attempt to profit at the expense of the people. Here also, however, The Shift is being experienced by the Powers That Be. The old models are not working and new schemes are being developed to convince the people that they should support their governments and the rich FIRST, rather than consider their own needs. This is feudalism in its death throes, in my opinion. The awakening of the human individual to the truth of the matter, allows even those slaves to the system, a different perspective. It allows a bit of Light to come in, in a quite literal fashion. The argument that monarchies must be supported by the greater population is losing coherency, for example. The idea that humans should be separated into classes according to income is losing credibility. There is a great equalizing effect in this Post-Shift Environment that sees, as I have said, the great virtue and utility in achieving a consensus in economic matters that supports the highest good for all participants.

New Economies

To echo my suggestions of last year, there are growing internationally many new economic models that hope to achieve the delivery of positive value to the lives of the participants. As the old structures give way, in other words, these new models will be put into place gradually by the Visionary Leaders. It is already happening now. Do not look for these positive advancements in your popular press. As I said, these media produce only fodder to support the status quo reality of your misguided leaders. Do, however, look to your local marketplaces to see evidence of this practice.

Gift Economy

Now I have stated the true seeker of prosperity, of abundance, may experience this ideal state by Giving. I suggested that the seeker should “give it all away.” This is the premise of the Gift Economies of your perceived past. I do see a return to this practice in some of your countries that are experimental in their approach to “fixing” the economy. In this practice of Giving, the individual gives without a thought to what they will receive in return. This may work quite well within the smaller, decentralized communities that I see developing as the densely populated urban centers experience this “flight to the countryside,” that I spoke of last year. The voluntary and ongoing Gift Exchange, in practice, leads to a redistribution of wealth throughout the community. In so doing, the community itself is strengthened. I’m certain you can imagine how this might be so.

Trade and Barter

In 2013, the move to trade and barter, rather than the capitalistic forms, will accelerate. I have suggested that your monetary systems, in the US in particular, are based on ideas, schemes, really, rather than wealth, as in precious metal reserves, and so on. These are weak systems and they will stumble, as in the stumbling of markets, and finally fall. The money will become worthless. It is already being devalued year to year as your overseers loot the treasuries worldwide. This move to the basic forms, then, will be one of necessity, as the old forms disintegrate.

Healing War

It is essential that you in the industrialized nations demand an end to wars of aggression. You must demand peace and commit yourselves to achieving peace through involving yourselves in the communities in which you live. Healthy communities are the foundation of peaceful Loving states and countries. This may seem obvious to you, but I will state it none-the-less. You in the US, Great Britain, and other countries spend a great deal of your monies on war. Particularly in the US, you have abdicated your responsibilities at the community level to create peace with your fellow man. That is what happens when you fear or ridicule or demean your neighbors in your communities. These negative thoughts, emotions and images coalesce into mass beliefs that drive whole countries. Now what we have in the US is a weak, disempowered majority of humans who not only distrust the next-door neighbor, but also, those in foreign lands. Your wars of conquest are a direct result of this refusal to understand and your neighbors.

Now obviously, the way to heal war is to begin in your communities. Love thy neighbor as thyself. Get to know the people who surround you. Forgive them and then move on with community activism, in which you play your part in the development of healthy Loving communities. This is a tall order, I realize. However, it is what you must do to begin the process of transformation, of healing war.

The Business of War

The economy in the US is kept afloat through the creation, sale and use of armaments. As you begin to retool your economy for the creation of prosperity, your defense contractors, for example, will be pressed into creating machinery to improve the lives of its citizens. The citizens must demand this, however, for these agreements to create the weapons of war rather than inexpensive, self-supporting housing modules for the people, for example, are the bargain in which your political leaders choose self-interest over the welfare of the people. That will be all for now on this particular idea.

Predictions

The government is in denial, yet each participant can feel the winds of change, of transformation, you see. With this tentative denial, also comes a denigration of the elderly and disabled. I noted this in my last Forecast and I see it strengthened here in the New Year. The weak and defenseless are vilified. They are impoverished by the state. This will be evident throughout the year. Please also watch how the dominator culture casts out the intellectuals, the visionaries, what we call the New Age types. The sick culture is attempting to get rid of all critics. Yet the ruling elite know that their days are numbered. They are busy taking what they need to live a life a wealth after the inevitable dismissal from office.

Part IV

The Spiritual Domain

Generalist Spirituality

In the Spiritual Domain I see a continuation of this Generalist Spirituality I have noted in past Forecasts. Growing numbers of humans will cease to identify with a mainstream religion, and instead, aspire to create their own connection to the Divine. This includes the creation of ritual observances around their own ideas of what is sacred. You may remember that I have suggested that the mainstream religions are crumbling at the base. They are becoming irrelevant under the effects of The Shift in consciousness. As the individual looks for their own authority from within, you might say, the authority that the individual once vested in the church, diminishes.

Collective Spirit

I have described a growing sense of Spirit that is becoming increasingly noticeable. It is a felt sense that the landscape - mental and physical - is being transformed. The Divine Feminine is ascending. Youth culture seeks ascension through Neotribal trance dance practices and drug use.

Humans everywhere are looking within themselves for the answers to their existential questions. This felt presence, I have previously stated, is indeed the collective awakening Spirit looking in on itself. It is as though the Logos, the gods and goddesses, the non-physical beings are there within you, within your corporeal body. The sacred is no longer the private purview of the local church, on the outside. The private sacred is a return to that state in which your ancestors, for example, spoke to and, indeed, carried on conversations with the Guides, with the goddess, with the animal and elemental Spirits. The action is within the individual now. The power of divine creativity is now resident within the average citizen.

Predictions

I see a movement by the mainstream religions colluding with the Western governments to marginalize the alternative practitioners. This I also noted in the last two forecasts. The mainstream religions will cast the new spirituality movements as non-Christian, as blasphemous, as a return to witchcraft, and so on. The government will attempt to enforce laws that support the mainstream religions while de-legitimizing the new churches, the new practitioners, you see. Again, the cycle of Evolutionary Consciousness that manifested in the times of the Inquisition, the witch burnings, and so on, is coming around again, yet on a less harshly ignorant tone. The average citizen awakening to their Higher Self at this time will not fall victim to the propaganda. The average citizen will be able to see the truth of the matter. Let me leave it at that.

Part V

Trends

Ancient Wisdom - Personal Empowerment

I noted the following trends or Reality Creation dynamics in our 2012 Forecast.

All of these dynamics are in play within the collective consciousness of humanity.

In these last 10 books I have written with my new collaborators, I have suggested to you the reader that you are awakening to your greater self in this lifetime. You are responding, then, to the Ancient Wisdom precepts that inform and vitalize spiritual practices everywhere. One effect of this awakening is an increase in personal power felt by the participant. You are empowered to take your own advice, as I said before. You are empowered to make your own way in the world, free of external authorities. I see this trend as continuing in the Post-Shift Environment. Indeed, this empowerment is the essential basis of the New Consciousness.

The Shift - A Cycle of Renewal

You are experiencing The Shift and the Post-Shift Environment to the degree that you participate in the potentials inherent in this transformation of consciousness. If you may think in terms of a cycle of renewal, perhaps you can sense where you may be in this transformation. Are you struggling with your Issues, in denial about why you are here? Or are you eagerly learning your Lessons, essentially, Loving your way into the future? The Cycle of Renewal will unfold during the next year, offering opportunities to “face the music” and “clean up your act,” as we say with humor. Please take these opportunities to increase your personal frequency and become an enlightened Soul.

Changing of the Guard - The Visionary Leader

On the surface it appears as though the leaders of the dominator culture are winning. They have their people in place at the highest stations of government, business and religion. Yet as I mentioned earlier, they are hearing the footsteps of the Visionary Leaders coming to replace them in time. My point is this: you are exalted when you identify with these positive virtuous humans. You are connecting to the status quo of pain and suffering when you identify with the Powers That Be, by believing their propaganda, by watching their displays of pomp and circumstance, by succumbing to the pull of glamour.

Secrets Revealed - Healing the Past

Again this is personal this time around. As you acknowledge your secret shame your repressed secrets, past perceived mistakes, and so on, you are released, you are healed, you are transformed for the positive. In 2013 I suggest you note how everyone is being invited to learn their Lessons by facing their Issues. Even your Negative Leaders are compelled to take this healing journey.

Goddess Rediscovered - GA Remembered

The Divine Feminine is at the heart of the New Spirituality I speak of in my books. This Gestalt of Consciousness compels you to consider the feminine within consciousness. This is so for both males and females. Briefly, because the female has been subjugated, it may be liberating in the extreme for the female to acknowledge this new manifestation of consciousness. For males, generally, it is an opportunity to acknowledge the perceived “feminine” aspects of personality within them. The bisexual nature of the psyche is allowed to manifest when these self-awareness exercises are practiced. And again, this Return is driven by bleedthroughs to the Divine Matriarchy of your past. The connection between mother and child is the model for ALL relationships moving forward.

Expecting the Worst - Anticipating the Positive

Your culture, your government, your social institutions, your media all point to a Negative Other that you are supposed to fear, to mobilize against, to expect punishment from in each moment of your waking existence. Naturally you begin to expect the worst in your Reality Creation efforts. Because you get what you expect to get, you then receive “proof” that it is a dangerous world. Period. Now you are in a new context of experiencing, however. Now you CAN expect the positive. Now that you know the terrorists are of your own making, you can stop expecting the worst and begin to expect the good things you have been denying yourself. Do this as a group to heal the collective wounds of hate, terror and fear.

Isolationist - Neotribal Collective

Your governments have isolated you within your homes. As a single individual living in isolation, you have little power to effect change. The Neotribal Influence is coming up to heal you of your loneliness and abandonment. This influence is an invitation to play and create new forms of living with your neighbors. This is how it is done. You will play into being new ways to exist in your communities with others.

Part VI

Probable Negative Events

- 1- More man-ufactured weather events at opportune times to confuse and frighten the population.
- 2- A Pacific Rim earth changes event including earthquakes that damage nuclear power facilities.
- 3- The crash of the US dollar in the world markets.
- 4- The use of military personnel and equipment to control suppress the efforts of Visionary Leaders worldwide.

Q & A

Brad on Facebook:(Used with his permission) “Pagan man trusted the power of nature. Human evolution surged and man collectively gave his power/authority to religion. Time passed and evolution surged again and man gave power and authority to science; and buzzinger...the world became round and we now orbited the sun.

Time passed and evolution surged again and man gave power and authority to governments and corporations. Now human evolution surges again, what will man give his authority and power to?”

12-31-12 12:36 AM

Let me say this, the modern human is an expression of evolutionary consciousness, what I call All That Is. Now All That Is seeks out every nuanced expression of itself within humankind. To you, within your system, it appears as though these various ages you speak of precede one another. The illusion of cause and effect, you see, as one moment seems to be related to the following moment. Yet as you know, time is simultaneous, in fact, such that everything that can happen does indeed happen NOW, within the spacious moment in which consciousness creates form. Upon this conceptualization of manifestation I also base a theory of reincarnation that suggests that ALL aspects of human experience are explored through various embodiments of Soul in human bodies over the ages. These are your Simultaneous Lives, simultaneous, in that all of your lives are created now in this moment. Thus, if you were to direct your focus to one of your other lives, as an ancient pagan, let us suppose, you would experience the life in real time. In other words, even as you are here and now asking this pertinent question of Seth, you would also be enjoying the scene, perhaps, around a celebratory campfire somewhere in another timeframe. Now to answer your question. You are a product of consciousness, even as pagan man was a product of consciousness. It is this same evolutionary consciousness that creates everything else in your system, everything else that is NOT you. Thus, to restate your premise, I would say that pagan men and women experienced themselves as a part of nature. They saw that they were simply different expressions of the same Source. All That Is was simply informing itself of these vital aspects of consciousness, without value judgment, you see, without this concept of surrendering power. I do not see this as the human being giving up their power as much as these Gestalts of Consciousness becoming strengthened through the inputs of thought, emotion and imagery from humanity. Now there is indeed a cycle afoot here. This is true. I do not feel we need to bring judgment into it, however, when I suggest that the sacred individual power of the human being will be emphasized in this coming era. The average citizen will receive inspiration, direction and hope from within, via a connection to this Source that I call the Divine, All That Is, the Higher Centers of Awareness, and so on. The cycle harkens back to a time thousands of years before your pagan man identified with nature. It goes back to a time when human consciousness was first received in your system. This is the star connection I speak of in my books. I trust I have answered your question. 12:45 PM
