Introduction by Mark

I always look forward to this time of year and I enjoy helping Seth put his forecasts together. It's exciting to be the first one to learn about what he feels is coming up for us. It's strange though, that, as I work with Seth on this information, the material seems to come to me in a different way than normal. It's almost as though he is using a slightly different waveband to transmit. It is as though the communications are coming from a longer distance.

I'm particularly gratified to see Seth's prophecies of the last few years coming to completion: the Leaderless Movement of Occupy Wall Street, for example, does look a lot like the Rise of The Visionary Leader. The Occupy Movement fits most of the criteria Seth has outlined in his last few books as requirements for the Visionary Leader.

Seth uses some harsh words to describe our current leaders in this book. He is not very pleased with the way they are behaving. I know this critique will upset some of our readers. I am just putting it out there just as Seth dictated it to me over the last few weeks. It's nothing personal, folks, as Seth says. It is the "truth of the matter" as Seth sees it and as I am coming to see it also, as I attempt to validate these prophecies in my own Personal Reality.

In other words, I do not necessarily accept everything that Seth says in this book, or any of the books he has written with us. But I am continually amazed at how accurate he can be. This is accuracy on the level of working with clients on the phone, and working with the world through these forecasts.

I hope you enjoy the ideas in this eBook.

Introduction by Seth

This latest manuscript was created in a fraction of the time we would normally take to complete a project. The need for more information on The Shift and the projected phenomena that will occur in 2012 was not apparent until immediately after we published our book on Resonance. Even as we were consumed with our publication duties, we knew that there would be some comments we would make on the website and in other venues, to help our clients throughout the year. Now, however, it seems more appropriate to create this guide for our ongoing clients, readers, and those of you who are just getting acquainted with the new books.

Though you need not be an expert in my theories and ideas, you should be aware of some of the basic information I am transmitting to humanity at this time. If you are completely “clueless” as to these prime topics and Precepts, I would suggest you go back to the older works I created with Jane and her husband, or to the books I have created with Mark and others.

Additionally, we are not creating this new guide to coincide with theories and concepts already out there. On the contrary, if there are similarities between our works and others, please note, as I have mentioned in our book on Resonance, that we are all commenting on the probable futures of this Reality Creation experiment of humanity on Earth. Those of my colleagues in the physical and non-physical worlds who have created prophecies of what to expect in the coming years, are perhaps seeing what I am seeing. The potentials there are numerous. Anything may happen in the collective manifestation. Yet we may make some predictions as to what those of you who read our works might experience. Do you see my point? I am simply helping you to read the signs, so to speak, that are directly in front of you.

Now we will pat ourselves on the back with regards to our ongoing prophecies offered in our yearly forecasts. The following Essential Metaphors are being expressed in the lives of individuals and in collectives throughout the world: The Changing of the Guard, The Shift, The Rise of the Visionary Leader, the Turnaround, the return of the magicians shamans witches and healers, a decentralization of power in the spheres of living, the General Spiritualist Movement, the New World, the Abundant Universe, etc.; etc.; etc. Welcome to our latest book.

Part I

The Social Domain

What is it that sustains a woman, a man, a child, in your system?

The Shift

Now it is our tradition to begin with the Financial Domain in our forecasts. However, at this time we begin with the Social Domain. It is in this domain of living that the most profound changes will be made in the coming year and years...

Dear Reader, the Shift in Consciousness that is occurring now forces your social institutions into disrepair, in a sense, for the practices of institutions are held up to a very fine Light, if you will pardon my pun. (See *Seth's theory of the Love Light Matrix from Thought Reality. MF) Quite simply, those practices, those institutions, those ways of doing things that are NOT serving the needs of the common citizen, will be re-created so that they do indeed serve ALL of you, all of humanity, you see. This aspect of the Ancient Wisdom insists on a redress of the basic issues of your creaturehood. What is it that sustains a woman, a man, a child, in your system? This fundamental question is being addressed.

Ancient Wisdom

The highest good for all concerned: this is that aspect of the Ancient Wisdom that informs the meditations, the prayers, the common thoughts of great numbers of awakening humans. It is a matter of fairness in the social sphere. The inequities are there to observe by anyone, anyone who would care to make an objective assessment of your social structures in the West, and also worldwide, would find that there are disparities throughout.

The differences between what a child experiences growing up in poverty, let us say, in the USA and other developed nations, and a child growing up in wealth, for example, are unequal, obviously. It has become a sad fact that the wealth of the family largely determines what level of health the family members will enjoy, what level of education they will attain, and so on. Your societies run on money, then, with the rewards of social living going to those who can pay for them. I'm certain you would agree. (See 911: The Unknown Reality of the World for more on Seth's views in this regard. MF)

Now this core belief that I am illustrating here - shall we call it “you get what you pay for?” - is being undermined by the communication stream of the Ancient Wisdom that INSISTS on the ethical consideration of “the highest good.” Let us speak a bit about how this transformation occurs...

Waking Up

In my new books, I suggested several years ago, that, as The Shift occurs in physical reality, great numbers of you would quite simply “wake up.” You would, as I told you in your incredulity, (Humorously) awaken from sleep, on occasion, with a transformed consciousness. The awakening, I suggested, would take place in the dreamstate, allowing you to use your new cognitive skills “first thing in the morning,” in a manner of speaking.

I have noticed that many of you are having this experience of awakening. You open your eyes and perceive your mundane reality with a freshness and an excitement unknown to you previously. What has happened here is this: you are responding to the communication stream of the Ancient Wisdom. This “esoteric database” is helping you to find answers to your questions while you sleep. As your consciousness rests in your so-called “unconscious state,” the other side of consciousness, what you may call the super-consciousness that connects all of you, the collective consciousness, you might also say, is busy at work making the connections necessary for you to have your awakening experience in your collective in Third-Dimensional Reality.

A Recapitulation

In the vernacular of my new books, I would put it this way: your reality that you experience in your waking consciousness, is a recapitulation of your dreamtime activities. The reality you experience upon awakening is created by you according to the protocols and procedures you develop during sleep. Thus, if you are a human on a trajectory of awakening - one of the Visionary Leaders I speak of in my books, for example - the basics of your Reality Creation are already worked out for you, by you and others in your collective, your Soul Family, in this etheric state.

On the other hand, if you are not on track to awaken in this timeframe, chances are you will not create the protocols and procedures during sleep to experience the awakening phenomenon. You have other Lessons to learn, in other words. You will experience other phenomena relevant to the Issues you are facing and Lessons you are learning at this time.

Two Groups

What we have here, then, for purposes of our discussion, are two broad groups of humans living on your Earth at this time. The one that I have described at length in my books, is the group composed of the do-gooders, social reformers, magicians, shamans, witches and healers, you see. They are the readers that I direct my messages to specifically. These new books are for this group. We have also referred to them as the New Agers, the modern metaphysicians, and so on. You know who you are. (Humorously) You also know what your “mission,” in a sense, indeed is at this critical time in your history.

The reasons you are here are varied, yet I would suggest that the primary reason or Lesson for you is to learn how to use the energy at your disposal to create improvements in your personal and collective realities. This is the primary Lesson for those of you who are awakening, then: to “lead” yourself through the learning of perhaps difficult Lessons in your Personal Reality, and then having “mastered” these Lessons, you might say, assist in the awakening of others, other people in the collectives of which you are a part.

The Visionary Leader, remember, leads by example. They are literally and figuratively always leading themselves, therefore. To elaborate on this a bit... Because your motto is “the highest good,” you are directed to manifest your personal world according to this Precept. Because your motto also includes “for all concerned,” you are directed - inner-directed by your Source - to, at the same time, create within the collective for the highest good of everyone else in that group.

Self Authority

Another message contained within the communication stream of the Ancient Wisdom is that of the authority of the individual. As you awaken from sleep you are reminded of your innate powers of Reality Creation: Personal empowerment it is called in your psychologies. It is a reminder, in the sense, that, it IS something you already know in all of your lives but you have perhaps forgotten temporarily in this current existence. The denial of one’s own power does serve in the learning of Lessons, for example. If you are here to become powerful, then, the initial denial of your own power to create gives you something to motivate your awakening. It gives you something to work with, to resist, to attempt to understand, and so, learn.

An example: If you are learning Lessons of power in your life, perhaps you find yourself always in the “inferior” position of being led, manipulated, being subject to persecution by others, and so on. It is a dismal life for you, then, perhaps one that leads to your questioning the great existential paradigm. Is life worth living? What do I need to survive? What are the behaviors needed to pull myself out of this negative trajectory?

Moment of Awakening

Then, as if by a miracle, your questions are answered in a Moment of Awakening one morning. You open your eyes from sleep with a new feeling of power filling your consciousness. You feel as though you could receive anything your heart desires and accomplish any goal. Cast against the dull and depressing life you have been living thus far, it does present itself as an awakening. It does seem as though your prayers have been answered. It does seem as though your existential questions have been received and answered in the form of this new positive state of consciousness.

Now how does this play out in the collective, this individual empowerment of the human example? Let me say that it is quite transformative in its effects on the collective, on society, within humanity generally. First, the person who has found their power, their own authority, is in communication with their Source, what we call the Energy Personality or All That Is in the books. This connection allows for the receiving of answers to any questions proffered to the Source. In other words, the authority having come from within, is rejected without, if you follow my train of thought. Where this human at one time looked to others - any others - for answers, for advice, they now look within for the Truth of the matter, as we say.

Obviously, “respect for authority,” as an attribute of the social life, is diminished in this awakening process. Indeed, authority - the Truth - resides within the consciousness of the average citizen, where it has ALWAYS been.

Taking Back Your Power

Let me drive this point home, if I may... Your religious leaders, your political leaders, your corporate leaders in modern times, have asked for and received your personal authority as a Reality Creator. You surrendered your personal authority in exchange for the benefits offered by the priest, the leader, the employer, etc.; etc.; etc. However, you always knew that this was a temporary exchange. You knew that one day you would be in a position to take your power back from the authorities. Now is that time.

The Tipping Point

We do enjoy this cogent description of Reality Creation called the Tipping Point. In my view, it quite accurately describes the emergence into your system of specific realities, both individual and collective. Let me discuss this for a bit and then relate it to my last comment that, “Now is the time.” A moment... As an individual, you come into being with a certain “curriculum” in front of you, in a manner of speaking. This curriculum we call the Issues and Lessons of living. You have “a lot on your plate,” so to speak, as you identify your Issues and learn the Lessons that are offered to you in those Issues. Speaking back to an earlier example of the perceived powerless human, the one who seems to be in the inferior position in all of their relationships...

For the sake of this example, let us speed things up here, by suggesting that this person is now a young male or female in a modern society such as the US. They have been taken care of, therefore, by parents, family, let us also say church and state, for that matter. All of their needs, in a sense are taken care of to the degree that they may not even notice that they are not a powerful, independent thinker and instigator - i.e. creator of realities. They are complacent, in other words. They are somewhat smug and self-satisfied in their place on earth.

Forced to Defer

Now this person, let us say, is beginning to experience the “downside,” so to speak, of being in the inferior position. They are just now awakening, in the vernacular of our new books. They are beginning to see, after a series of eye-opening experiences in their personal life, perhaps, that they do indeed not have a say in the particulars of their life experience. Authority figures “figure-in” to each and every decision in their existence. (Humorously) They literally do not have a say in the matter of life, but are forced to defer to the judgment of others: parents, teachers, other authority figures who are “experts on the subject at hand,” you see.

Let me just say, that, this series of awakening events, momentary awakenings, you see, when the eyes are opened to the Truth of the matter, when existential awareness is quite acute, this sequence of events serves as a Tipping Point for our example. This simply means that our example is FORCED to see their life in a profoundly new way. They are compelled to view the human authorities in their life, who were once revered or perhaps merely ultimately respected, in negative terms now. They will notice that these figures have effectively held back our example, held them back in terms of the evolution of their consciousness, of their Soul, you might also say. Thus, after this awakening, there is no going back to the old ways of thought, emotion, and behavior. Our example will find a new responsibility to challenge these authorities so that they may come to their own conclusions on matters that concern them.

Tipping Point

This Tipping Point metaphor is quite instructive, here. Let us imbue the metaphor with some helpful attributes. The Tipping Point, from my perspective, has momentum. It is indeed energized by the potencies of revolution, of manifestation, of transformation. These energies have been building up for some time. The desires have been thwarted, let us say, perhaps for years, until they have been stifled to a bare whisper. These desires to be free, to articulate the individual vision, to live with joy, Loving Understanding and Courage, have, in a sense, “bided their time,” knowing that free expression would come.

It is in this way that the exuberant expression of the unfettered Soul astounds the status quo. The old paradigm is “blown away,” to coin another term we enjoy. The personal and collective Truth is presented there for all to see. The individual awakens. The individual leads themselves from enslavement into freedom. The individual finds others of like mind, others who are also leading themselves. The visionary collectives are formed and easily take the place of the dominator collectives. This is the power, the momentum of the awakening experience.

Mystery Civilizations

The Ancient Wisdom is being remembered, as I have said, by millions of awakening humans. As this occurs, these humans are reminded of their Simultaneous Lives, their Reincarnational existences that they have lived before, before this era of awakening. Some of these lives have been experienced within the proto-cultures of the Mystery Civilizations we speak of in my new books.

GA

Now for most of my readership, the society that is most germane to this discussion is the GA collective: a matriarchy that existed well before your most ancient of documented historical civilizations. Women ran this collective and women assumed leadership positions in all of the social and political structures. Their leadership practices were based on the mother's role of nurturer and steward of the developing human. Love with a capital "L" was the focus in all endeavors. The highest good for all was the law of the land.

Sumari

Now you may learn of the role of the male in GA in our books, for now I would enjoy noting for the reader, that you as an awakening human, and as a member, perhaps, of the Sumari family of consciousness, are quite probably experiencing bleedthroughs to this ancient collective. Perhaps you have lived a life there and perhaps you are living a life there, as you may accept the Sime Time construct. If you do accept this connection, and you are experiencing your life in brief flashes “in the moment” as a GA citizen, please observe how the notion of tribal existence may appeal to you.

This idea is the opposite of the isolation and drudgery that many of you in the modern world experience. Indeed, these bleedthroughs are having the effect of seeding your consciousness, and so your reality, with new models of being in the world. New social structures are thus growing into your reality quite naturally, according to these ancient blueprints, what we call the Gestalts of Consciousness, that first inspired the GA civilization.

The Divine Feminine

You may see this influence in the neotribal movement, particularly those groups that honor the Divine Feminine, the Goddess, the Priestess, and so on. This new emphasis of the feminine marks a Turnaround from the practices of humankind over the centuries. What we call the “dominator cultures” are being reformed from within, as these divine impulses inspire average citizens of the Earth to do things differently. Yes, it is a cycle, a thousands-of-years cycle that sees these forms of human collective living re-emerge. And since there are no documents of that time to show you the way, you are compelled to trust your inner voice, your intuition, and your impulses. Your receptive qualities, what you might call the “feminine” aspects of consciousness, are in demand at this time.

The Consciousness Units

As you may know, your physical reality is composed of Consciousness Units of sentient energy, each of which is responsive to thought, emotion, imagery. In your current existence these CU’s serve as the basis for all Reality Constructs in your Personal Reality Field, including your body, including your flesh, your organs, including the eyes with which you read these messages. In other timeframes, however, these exact same units of energy, because they are telepathic and holographic, form the Reality Constructs that populate those particular timeframes, you see, including the air, the soil and the physical bodies of the humans, animals and other creatures that live upon your Earth, which is also, I might add, composed of the CU's.

The Past

In this way, your past is there directly in front of you in a quite literal fashion, such that, the CU's and atoms that compose your favorite baby bottle on which you nursed as a child, NOW compose the coffee mug, let us say, from which you are drinking your beverage, or the telephone that you spoke through earlier in this day. Do you see my point? The past, the present, and the future are all available now to you through this portal we have called the Moment Point in my books. Now if you accept this, you will have an easy time understanding what I am about to tell you concerning the prophesized New World of your spiritualist and New Age literature.

The New World

As an awakening human, the New World is becoming more and more apparent to you. It exists in potential: it is latent within each of the CU's that compose you and your Personal Reality Field. Indeed, as you seed your personal and collective consciousness with the life-affirming attributes, the Virtues of Humanity, the positive Loving and Courageous thoughts of humankind, you catalyze the transformation from the mundane to the ex-altered, from the world in which you live that may be in disrepair - with Love being absent for the most part - to an improved perception of world, in which Love is taking root, in which Courage and compassion are transforming the landscape.

The Domains of Living

Now by “landscape” I mean this: with your good Intentions, your positive thoughts, your liberal use of positive emotion, you are changing the configuration of the CU’s that compose your world. Thus, the social landscape is altered for the better, toward more Loving Understanding. The economic landscape is altered for the better, toward a perception of the Abundant Universe. Even the natural landscape of tree, earth, sky is altered for the better. All Reality Constructs are taken up in frequency under your focused Intent, your Divine Intent you may call it. This is how the New World is taking shape, the post-Shift environment. It is there to be experienced according to the energy you have expressed in creating it. In this way, the New World is an individual creation first, having the characteristics of the co-creator. Over time the perception alters according to the inputs of the collective. This positive manifestation, therefore, will become more noticeable to more people.

In conclusion

The year ahead in the social domain will be one of potent transformation. The Shift is real now for great numbers of you. It is impossible to deny it. All are plunged into chaos to be rebuilt on a higher frequency, a vibration of Love with a capital “L,” one would trust. (Humorously) It will take a great deal of Loving energy and patience for the average citizen to navigate the coming era. Those of you who share these insights into the human consciousness will band together to “weather the storm,” in a sense. From these small collectives will emerge the new societal constructs. The “normal” family model will be rejected in favor of a more fluid and active model. Collectives of like-minded people will refer to themselves as “families,” with various members coming into and leaving the family at any one time. The genetic and adoptive family members may or may not be included in these new groupings.

This neotribal expression is actually a bleedthrough, as I said, to ancient civilizations in which the definition of family was very much more expansive than your modern view. Now reincarnationally this is exactly what is occurring. You are responding to bleedthroughs from these ancient existences as you form your new collectives. We call these collectives the Soul Family aggregates in my new books. They are a new expression of the same assortment of Souls, now in new bodies, certainly, in these modern times, yet still representing your family from the collectives formed thousands of years ago. Indeed, you and your Soul Family - the general collective of humans with which you identify - have come into being in this timeframe to experience your Lessons together, just as you always do. You made the decision to do so before you entered the body of the baby.

In the year ahead, then, you will be offered an opportunity to face your Issues and learn your Lessons within the Soul Family aggregate. For your information, many of you are taking care of this unfinished business of the Soul, before you may embark upon other experiences in other systems after this lifetime. You are of the so-called “Old Soul” type, you see, and you will likely not return to the physical plane of Earth after your Transition, the physical death of your current body.

On that note, let us proceed to the Political Domain.
(Humorously)

Part II

The Political Domain

Now you know how it feels to have your hopes and dreams dashed by a Negative Leader...

The Past Election

In our forecast for 2008 I suggested to you that the probabilities were quite good that you would elect a Visionary Leader in the USA. At that time I was commenting on a presidential candidate who was in touch with Spirit, a true visionary who had a plan for leading your USA along visionary principles, for the highest good for all concerned. That was in the collective consciousness of the USA at that time. The fellow I was referring to, however, was vilified in the press and made to look as weak and somewhat unstable. This was the Negative Media at its most destructive. They destroyed him politically even as these attributes of the Visionary Leader were “borrowed” from this candidate and worked into a campaign that would fuel the inevitable election of the president now in office. This was what, in fact, was done. We are clearly stating the facts of the matter at this time

Rude Awakening

Now I say “borrowed,” the true word is perhaps, stolen. The campaign investigated this leader and did build the winning campaign on the principles he espoused in his own earnest efforts. Thus, the leader was elected on promises made on the campaign trail. Over the years since that election, many discerning humans living in the USA and elsewhere have discovered the truth about this fellow. He is not a visionary and was never intending to lead by visionary principles. He was, in fact, a “more of the same” candidate, representing the interests of the Ruling Elite of your Earth.

Now you know. Now you are waking up. Now you are perhaps angry at being taken advantage of by this organization. Yet you were a part of it, Dear Reader. You agreed to participate in the charade on some level. You agreed to learn this Lesson having to do with “feet of clay,” and with the lack of ethics of your leaders. Now you know how it feels to have your hopes and dreams dashed by a Negative Leader who pretends that he is the opposite.

Indeed, collectively you of this modern period have agreed to participate in this disappointing reincarnational drama, as the “pretender to the throne” hoodwinks the people, and then goes on to rule in the interests of the Elite while ignoring the common citizen.

Projection Phenomenon

It does feel as though you have been here before, perhaps. Yes, you have been here in precisely this same disadvantageous position. Throughout your history you are being taken in by the glib con-man politician, the Negative Leader we speak of in my books. This is such a time, you see, and this is also the opportunity to learn from this mistake.

Lessons

What is to be learned here? Just this: you are the Visionary Leader and you do yourself a disservice by projecting these responsibilities onto others out of fear that you are not up to the task. So this is a personal and a collective habit of yours, in which you surrender your Reality Creation energies to others. Is this low self-esteem on a national level? I would say, yes it is. Primarily it is the fault of your leaders generally. They keep you powerless. They invite the projection of authority onto them and then use it to control you. Now you are waking up, some of you, and you notice that you have abandoned your power to these Negative Leaders on all levels of human endeavor. It is “a teachable moment,” to coin a phrase. You are being advised by your Higher Consciousness, in fact, that you must now take back your power or risk annihilation.

I hope I haven't frightened you into submission with my proclamations, here. The first step in awakening to your Truth is to see with clarity what is in front of you. Admit the fact that you are in dire straits. Refrain from looking to authority figures to guide you. Invoke your Higher Centers of Awareness and be guided from within. My sermon on the Political Domain is over. (Humorous-ly) Let us now bring some Light into this discussion...

Secrets Revealed

Now when I speak of “cyclical” phenomenon below, what I mean is, these occurrences resemble your regular natural events, such as the seasons of the year. Each Fall, for example, is similar to the last Fall, you see. Yet there are numerous differences in how the season unfolds over the few months of its expression. Each Fall is, then, also, unlike any other Fall. Do you get my point? What we are speaking of in these phenomena are Great Cycles of manifestation, thousands of years in process.

Now let me say that there are two very natural phenomena occurring in your physical reality at this time. One of these cyclical occurrences is what we have called the Secrets Revealed movement within the collective unconscious and consciousness. Over time, your leaders have deceived you, as I have said, for the most part, simply because they COULD deceive you. They could lie to you, in other words, and then go about doing the bidding of higher ups, what we are calling the Ruling Elite of your world. This continuous path of constant obfuscation and lying requires the continuous repression of motives. The liar must, at all times, in order to be successful, keep the secret of their true motives, the so-called hidden-agenda, you see.

This takes an abundance of psychic energy, for it is the natural inclination of the human being, as I have related to you elsewhere in these new writings, to defer to the Truth, to Love, to the positive. Over time, you may remember, your race has been diverted from this path, the Ethical Path we might call it, to encounter the Negative Emotions and to subvert the Virtues of Humanity. In their place the negative human substitutes the negative emotions, negative imagery, negative thoughtforms that become the foundation of the negative manifestation. Each negative act, then, we can consider a secret to these perpetrators. Each negative leader holds within them this trove of secrets about their intentionally harmful behaviors on the path to the acquisition of power, wealth, stature in the world.

The Tipping Point

The Tipping Point, an appropriate metaphor, has been reached here in this collective manifestation of the Negative Leader. It is as though there has been so much deceit and violence used to attain these positions of power, that the collective unconscious DEMANDS a redressing of these issues of power. Thus, you find that, even in your Negative Media that are usually complicit with these leaders, you are finding stories of these secrets coming into view, coming into the Light, you see. You are at a point now where the Ruling Elite are losing their grip on power.

We spoke before of the desire of your leaders to not push the people too far, so far that they resist in revolution. Now it seems that it is too late for that. With the daily revelations in your press of how your leaders have robbed the national treasury, for example, comes this collective outrage from the people. It does seem as though it is too late for preventative measures from these leaders.

The Turnaround

The new paradigm is coming into view. With regard to your political structures in the USA and abroad, it may best be understood, I suggest, by assuming the opposite perspective. This is a technique I have offered to you in my new books, as a way to transform negative realities into positive realities. It is a technique that works with the natural laws of manifestation. It works quite potently now, for you are in a Shift environment in the 3rd Dimension. Your manifestations are coming sooner rather than later, now. The lag-time is diminishing. Thus, when I suggest to you that you may simply assume the opposite of the negative reality you are “healing,” the probabilities are quite good that you will see some immediate results. You are in this case on the edge of the manifestation. You anticipate an immediate result, and so you get one, to a certain degree.

Now these are natural forces at work in The Shift. The purification of consciousness entails this revelation of the secrets of the Ruling Elite, that I just related to you. The healing of the planet and mankind entails a Turnaround from dominator perspectives to the perspective of the Lovers of humanity and Mother Earth. It may be the opposite, you see, of what you have experienced thus far.

I have also linked this Turnaround to Earth Changes of great magnitude that have existed in probability for you in the past. I will speak of these in the section on Probable Negative Outcomes for humanity.

Decentralization

The Turnaround in the Political Domain will see a resurgence of direct democracy in the West and in those countries currently being reformed. The oligarchs are in charge of everything currently. As they are forced to let go of their stranglehold on the world's resources, new cooperative forms of government will take root and grow in your communities.

A decentralization of power is at work, you see, based upon States Rights, primarily, rather than Federal in the USA, for example. This is already underway, however your Negative Media are reluctant to comment on these drastic transformations in the public sphere. They are loathe to herald the fading powers of those who control them. When this transition is strengthened, however, you will begin to see more stories of this new direct democracy government that is growing in your communities, particularly in the USA, but definitely worldwide to some degree.

The Average Citizen

Yet this is a quite personal Turnaround on the level of the individual, also, the individual citizen, as we say. You, Dear Reader are forced to air your “dirty laundry,” in a sense, as your secrets too are revealed. On this individual level of the average human consciousness, what you may call “repressed” or secret and perhaps shameful material is coming up from your personal underworld - your subconscious - to be addressed. This is purification on the private level, is it not? You know what I am talking about. All of you are in your Issues learning your important Lessons of Value Fulfillment.

This microcosm of purified thought, emotion, memory, coalesces with the greater collective, the macrocosm, to create these movements within consciousness that I am describing to you, such as the Turnaround, and even The Shift itself. So you are a part of this. Your private Issues are being made known in an open way to others. As you “let go,” in a sense, of this potent material, you allow it to resolve, to “heal itself,” so that you will no longer suffer the negative effects of this repression of secrets.

Those Who Follow Shall Lead

Yes, you are moving into your Power Position. You have always relied on the power of the group, let us say, for the majority of your existence. Thus, you valued your place in the workplace, for example, or in the many collectives of which you are a part. You relied on the authorities, in other words, the leaders of these collectives, to “tell you what to do.” I am simplifying this for your better understanding. Now you are awakening. Now you are healing yourself. Now you are allowing your power to manifest. As you remember the Ancient Wisdom Precept that “you create your own reality,” quite literally, you become an authority, not only on your own existence, but you become privy to the secrets of the Universe. The secrets of the Universe comprise the communication stream of the Ancient Wisdom that is helping you to awaken to your own power.

The Visionary Leader Leads

It is exhilarating to sense your power in the moment. As you do you naturally feel the urge to resist authority from without. And you quite naturally, again, feel the urge to simply go within for the information you need in any circumstance.

We are describing the awakening of the Visionary Leader, who begins to lead by example. Others are inspired by your leadership and begin to do the same in their own lives: leading by example, you see. In a sense, you could say that the sheep no longer follow the shepherd, but individually they now lead the shepherd towards where the collective wishes to go. I trust you get my meaning here, in this quaint illustration.

In Conclusion

Now, it is “nothing personal,” here in these phenomena you are witnessing. It is not a personal matter between you and your Negative Leaders, for example. Indeed, you are ALL simply playing your roles in this reincarnational drama. I believe that you would be better off to assess the matter at hand, the subject of your current enslavement and subsequent awakening, in a quite objective manner: the Objective Observer perspective we have called this in my new books. It is an exalted perspective that the student “embodies,” in which emotion, particularly Negative Emotion, is absent. You see “the Truth of the matter,” in other words: what is really in front of you, untainted by your thoughts, feelings, and so on.

Emotion-Based Realities

Now, objectively observing your Reality Creation in the moment, prevents you from acting-out in emotionality. This cool and objective perspective, here, DOES see the Issues you are dealing with and also the Lessons you are learning. These Issues and Lessons are literally BASED in the human emotions, primarily the Negative Emotions. Then, as you witness your personal Truth, perhaps you begin to see the value of Positive Emotions, particularly in the Social and Political Spheres. Please bear with me as I accent my main points of understanding. (Humorously)

Loving Understanding and Courage

Loving Understanding and Courage, these are your basic tools for transforming your world, as I have said many, many times. For example: as you “come back to Earth,” from your assessment exercises as the Objective Observer, you must, of necessity, also return to your Emotional Body. What you have seen may disturb you. It may “cause” you to become, anxious, angry, fearful, cynical, and any number of permutations of the Negative Emotions. Instead, I suggest you “embody” Loving Understanding and Courage as you decide what course of action to take.

Issues and Lessons

In this way, as you consider your rude awakening, perhaps, to the realization that you have been deceived by your leaders, you may be pulled to react in anger, cynicism, righteous indignation. My suggestion is that you look at that emotional content and note where it is from, in the sense that, your Issues are being triggered by this material. Perhaps you have been taken advantage of in the past by others, by perhaps Soul Family members who had authority over you. This “makes” you angry NOW, in this moment of realization. Note to yourself this triggering of emotion and where it comes from in your past. Then defer to the positive Loving Understanding. You are indeed understanding the truth of the matter here, in a loving way. You are also Courageously looking at your Issues. Even though the Issues are instilled in fear, shame, and so on, you are looking at them with Courage and Loving Understanding.

Changes in Consciousness

Again, perhaps you have projected your responsibilities of visionary leadership onto these Negative Leaders and now you are feeling let down. The changes that must be made here, however, are internal ones: changes in your individual consciousness, you see. As you make these changes, we would say that you are examining your Issues and learning your Lessons. In this case, I would say that you are taking responsibility for leading by example in this Visionary Leader perspective.

You are the Visionary Leader, then, and as you face your Issues and learn your Lessons, as your dirty laundry is revealed, you transform this material into its opposite: power, joy, Courage, you see. For this reason we assert in our new books that, “Your most shameful private memories hold the key to your ecstatic awakening.” It is also a restatement of our Consecutive Positive Assessments technique and the age-old concept of “transforming poison into medicine.”

Finally, there is a high probability that your leader in the USA will fall victim to the Secrets Revealed phenomenon. The fall-out from this revelation will spoil his re-election plans. If the voting process is protected, a true Visionary Leader will likely be elected.

Part III

The Economic Domain

Humanity is tired of war and tired of the ruthless leaders who profit from war...

Greed

Now the problems that plague the USA and the other countries of the world are based on a scarcity perspective. Those who have the power believe that there is not enough for everyone and that they must guard what they have to the death, while, at the same time, they must continue to take advantage of the less-powerful. I do believe that it is because of this tendency of your Ruling Elite to take as much as they can without leaving enough resources for others. It is a greed issue, is it not?

The irony for you in your timeframe is this: you exist within an Abundant Universe, in which ALL of your needs and desires are met. Your inability to perceive this world is your Issue. (See Thought Reality for more on

The Abundant Universe and The Spiritual Prosperity Program. MF)

Wars

Then one finds that the vocation of the Ruling Elite, particularly in your USA, is primarily war, you see. The monies of the people, generally, are spent in the pursuit of power globally. We have suggested in our first book and in our past forecasts that this would result in the death of the American Empire, this focus on conquering other peoples and taking their resources. It has continued unabated, then, for many years and you are now seeing the negative effects of this strategy.

The Shift will further this process of disintegration as the individual citizen awakens and demands a better use of their resources. This will be part of a global awakening that will assist all countries in preparing for peace rather than war. Now, obviously, some countries will resist. They will attempt to take advantage of the disarmament movement that will occur in 2012 and beyond. However, a Tipping Point has been reached here in the collective consciousness. Humanity is tired of war and tired of the ruthless leaders who profit from war. This perspective will be a keynote of the coming year. Peace on Earth will be on the minds of millions of humans, and thus, the effects of a peaceful consciousness will be expressed in physical reality. Period.

Visionary Leadership

Under a rudimentary form visionary leadership, your Congress will embark on a new age of accountability to their constituents, beginning at the end of 2012. There will be a dramatic buildup during the year, however, to this Turnaround, as the Secrets Revealed phenomenon unfolds and many of the Negative Leaders are hounded out of office. In their wake the Visionary Leaders will assume their leading roles and redirect the flows of treasury monies to the public good.

Now how does this play out in the personal arena for the common citizen?

Survival

In a sense, you will be “on your own” in the economic sphere in 2012. As we have said, your system is not holding. What you call the capitalist form is crashing down. Your leaders have used this form to take advantage of the people. As they and THEIR leaders leave the government offices of your country, the common citizen will be left to “make do.” Already you are feeling this surge of common interest in what may be coming into view as a new model for your US and some of the other countries who depended on capitalism. It is a return to basics, this new model. It is founded on the basic principle of survival. The individual and the family must survive. The governments will not help you. They cannot help you, they are being reformed. It is up to the leaders within the families, within the neighborhoods, within the cities and states to lead in the formation of these new systems.

Co-ops

Cooperatives will be established in 2012 and beyond that will serve the basic needs of families and collectives. In this way, the Visionary Leaders will take matters into their own hands. The production of food will be cooperatized as the small farmers band together. I sense that the large agribusinesses will still flourish for a time as they continue to send their products out of the US. This monolith too, however, will be cut down to size under the influence of this decentralization of power and production that will transform ALL aspects of the economy.

Bleedthroughs

Thus I see this rise of the ancestral forms of trade and barter. As we have said in a past forecast, what you have called the money system will give way to this updated form of trade and barter in which money, per se, does not play as great a role. (At the end of this chapter I will say more about the new economy that is being created in the dreamstate.)

The preference for trading and bartering is driven by a bleedthrough to a Mystery Civilization from your past. In that era, the citizen was expected to contribute their skills and efforts in “the commons” to create value for the collective as a whole. In return for these activities, they received the necessities of living: food, clothing, shelter, an education, and so on. This practice was based on the notion that “the good life” was achieved for the individual through a reliance by all on the highest good for all concerned.

Do you see how this notion, this aspect of the Ancient Wisdom, is now obviously informing your consciousness as an awakening human? Every domain of existence is being transformed according to this Precept. Please read our book Mystery Civilizations for the particulars of this ancient practice.

Fading National Powers

With the de-emphasis on the national systems, as the governments of the world lose authority, comes an emphasis on the individual and an empowerment of collectives in this order: family, neighborhood, collective, city and state. Again, the natural right of the individual to thrive and raise a family upon the Earth is emphasized on the microcosmic level as the States are empowered to the degree that they reflect the wishes of the people.

In 2012 and beyond I see the Federal powers struggling to remain relevant in the USA as large numbers of citizens refuse to pay their taxes, for example. Perceived unjust laws will be ignored on the Federal level as the various States step into this power vacuum to regulate the common good in a more just fashion.

Gold Standard

I see a return to the Gold Standard in the US, if not in 2012, certainly in the next few years as the citizens lose faith in the Federal Reserve. A huge scandal will rock this institution: the Secrets Revealed phenomenon at work.

Entrepreneurs

As we have said before, the entrepreneurs among you who learn how to cater to the needs of the Awakening Ones will thrive. Yes, the awakening is going mainstream. As this occurs, the practitioners who can predict what is needed by this collective, will provide the goods and services they require.

Awakening Ones

Now in my past forecasts I may have cast these Awakening Ones in a negative light. Some readers have suggested I was speaking of an entitled elite, when referring to this group. No, not at all. The Awakening Ones comprise a broad spectrum of average humans. These people are of varying intellect, education, capability, and all of the other criteria one would use to identify them. The working man and woman, the so-called “well to do,” people of all types are awakening now. You are all fulfilling your contracts with Soul that you created in other lives. You made a commitment to wake up in this timeframe, and now you are.

Neotribal Economy

The neotribal influence is apparent in the new economy of the city collective. In a few years I see that all of the needs of the small community will be met entirely within the small community. Importing and exporting of goods will lesson. Food, shelter, services of various types, communication, all needs will be met locally. Thus we see these thriving communities growing under their own guidance, yet connected to the greater collective within the States, for example, through electronic networks, the Internet, and so on.

Again, as I suggested in a past forecast, the urban centers in the USA will struggle as the average citizen goes out to find their place in the multitude of evolving communities.

Giving

The practice of creating local forms of “currency” we noted in our last forecast, will continue in 2012. I see a move towards leaving the banks out of the equation. As I said, trade, barter, coupons, even providing free services for others in the community, and GIVING goods and other valuable items to others out of kindness, you see. This genuine form of giving that I noted in my books is Resonating within the Collective Consciousness at this time. You give without thought of payback. You give out of Love, essentially, for the highest good of all.

Diversity

Now I do see this tendency for communities to form and grow through a “synergy of integration,” if we may call it that. The diversity of human expression in the Third Dimension will be honored, so that, even within the smaller collectives, you would find all of the richness of ethnic and human diversity you would expect in the cosmopolitan urban centers. This makes sense, does it not? Evolutionary Consciousness, the power that creates your system of reality, seeks to know itself through diversity. Period. During The Shift and after, you will see the differences celebrated as well as the similarities. I think I shall leave it at that.

In Conclusion

Healing Greed

Greed is your Issue, you see. As a collective of humans you are eager to get more and more: to consume. This Issue is destroying your economy, however, as the Elites steal from you, while at the same, these wealthy humans “inspire” you to seek out great wealth for yourself. This message that you are all Elite and entitled to take the resources of the world is heralded in your Negative Media, as I have said, and remains at the base of your so-called American Dream and your Pioneer Spirit.

Having framed it for you in a more truthful manner, now, I will offer some solutions to your dilemma.
(Humorously)

Embody the Opposite

The opposite, Dear Reader, the opposite is where the power lies, for you and for all of humanity. The opposite being the highest good for all. The individual behaves, imagines, and emotes with the best interests of the collective in mind. And being a part of the collective, the individual is also served, please do not misunderstand me here. You are also served in the manifestation. Try it. Attempt to embody this Feeling-Tone of THGFAC. You will find that YOU are empowered initially. Then, because you are connected to all of your collectives via the Consciousness Units from which you are made, the inhabitants of the greater collectives - family, city, state - are empowered to that precise degree. Your thoughts have this power to create realities. Use them for the benefit of all and witness the spontaneous healing of the human collective

Healing War

As you demand that your warring industry be transposed into peace-making industries, peace, Love, compassion predominate, quite obviously. Your responsibility lies here. For example: At one of our workshops a participant asked me what was the best prayer to practice to achieve World Peace. I told her, in as kind a voice as I could muster, that by assuming there was NOT YET World Peace, she was helping to contribute to the absence of World Peace. Better it would be, I told her, to go out from the bookstore and EMBODY world peace. Demonstrate it for your family and other collectives. Show them what it is, in fact. It is, in fact, Love: Love for yourself and others regardless of circumstances. That is what we are really talking about here in these new books. The subject is Reality Creation, yes, but through a template of Loving Understanding and Courage. End of sermon.

(Humorously)

Become the Visionary Leader

If you are to survive The Shift intact and prosper in the New World environment, it is advised that you begin to immediately embody the Visionary Leader perspective. In terms of a business persona, it has the evolutionary edge. As the dominator perspective loses, this new aspect of consciousness gains. You can sense this, again, everywhere you go. Everyone from the attendant at the service station to the teller at the bank is rising up in frequency to meet this new paradigm of conscious co-creation. The need to project your Issues onto charismatic leaders in all of the domains of living will no longer be necessary. I think you may see how this is manifesting for you personally. It is obvious that there is this transformation afoot.

The New Economy

When we say in our materials that the New Economy will run on Light, this is what we are implying. A moment... Your world is composed of Light elements within a matrix. We call this system the Love Light matrix, therefore, for Love is the generative factor. You are founded in Love but you are also acquainted with the Negative Emotions as you live your life on Earth. This is how you encounter your Lessons. This is why you come to the Earth in the first place, to learn how to use energy to create positive value for yourself.

So this is the Lightworker metaphor we are describing. The Lightworker uses the Light of creative energy - the CU's - to create intentionally with Love. And this is the new economy, in which the value of everything is expressed in terms of Light Units or elements of Love with a capital "L." I'm going to let you digest that for a moment...

Breakdown or Breakthrough

Dear Reader, you are on the brink of a great transformation. You have an opportunity to completely turn the tide of Negative Realities created over the millennia. Your spiritual traditions have predicted this day would come. The peoples of the world sense intuitively that the time is near. Thus, what may appear to be the dissolution of your economy along with the money system, the Federal Reserve, and other institutions, is in fact this switch to a Light Economy. Reality Constructs that hold the most Light will be valued higher than those that hold less Light. This is the new system. You will prosper in the new year and beyond if you can embody this idea of Lightwork, and this idea of the Light Economy. “Take it out for a spin,” as they say. Practice Lightworking in your waking reality and see if this is the career that has been waiting for you. (Humorously)

~ NOTES ~

How will you create positive value for yourself and others in the new economy?

Part IV

The Spiritual Domain

*you will see a major shift to religious tolerance
in your system...*

Modernity Movement

Your mainstream religions, in the West now, are in decline. They are suffering under the burden of dogma. The people are losing faith in these monolithic institutions, and as they do, they seek out a more simplified and relevant practice. Consciousness is being brought up in frequency, an octave in frequency, if you will accept this metaphor. And so it makes sense, that the hold-overs from the dominator cultures - the restrictive religions - are forced to evolve or remain these crumbling anachronistic symbols of empire.

Thus, I see a Modernity Movement among the great churches that will gain force in 2012 and beyond. These institutions will struggle to remain relevant under the extreme forces of social change. The Catholic Church, for example, will seek to change its image. They will employ a public relations agency to help combat the perception of shameful contamination. I do not see this as being effective, however. The Shift will level the Catholic Church, in particular, in the West primarily, but the damage will be felt around the world.

Rediscovering the Goddess

We have noted in past forecasts that the alternative paths are becoming increasingly popular in the West. This interest is expressed in the New Age movement and also in what we are calling The Shift in consciousness. As the authoritarian regimes lose power, their resident religions will be challenged by what you may call The Feminine Principle or the Divine Feminine. The receptive principle in manifestation is becoming rediscovered, then.

These bleedthroughs to the GA matriarchy and other benign collectives from your perceived past, quite naturally spark memories from the Simultaneous Lives. (Please refer to our book Mystery Civilizations for more information on the divine matriarchy. MF) Thus the old forms of worship are being remembered and practiced in the traditional manner. We have noted before, that it may take merely a brief scanning of a book on the subject to rekindle those reincarnational memories of times - lifetimes - spent in the Mystery Civilizations. So many of you are remembering and taking up the practice in your current lives.

Generalist Spirituality

From this revived interest in the ancestral systems, a new form that we are calling the Generalist Spirituality Movement, is manifesting. The participants in this collective ascribe to definite goddess attributes. A multiplicity of sacred beings is favored. Yet if you were to investigate what any number of practitioners thought of as their religion, each would have a different idea, I would guess. That is the mark of this movement. Without societal demands to believe in a particular way, there is this opportunity to pick-and-choose to create an individualized spiritual practice.

Religious Tolerance

Obviously, as all of these collectives grow in numbers, the collective manifestation becomes more apparent in your reality. As this occurs over the next few years, you will see a major shift to religious tolerance in your system. I must mention, however, that during 2012 there will be the continuing attempts to smear the new alternative paths in the Negative Media. As the Negative Media outlets lose credibility, however, the new forms of information sharing - primarily electronic - will support these efforts. A Positive Press is now being established on your Internet to fill the need for Truthful representation of your shared reality.

Neotribal Effects

I do not wish to give the impression that these movements are all autonomous goings-on, without relationship to one another. ALL of this Reality Creation, this manifestation in physicality, is indeed, ONE. It is one statement of All That Is.

The neotribal movement is also having an effect in the spiritual domain. You may sense this in the gatherings of young people, in particular, in dance festivals and in community-creation. The focus in these new collectives is the attainment of a type of Trance State achieved through dance and often substance use. The tribal activities of the First Peoples of your Earth are, in this way, honored in these movements.

Psychedelics

Now please allow me to refine my statements of an earlier time concerning the use of psychedelics. When I contacted Jane and her husband to begin the Seth material, (Please refer to the works of Jane Roberts and her husband Robert Butts. MF) it was during a very fertile blossoming of human consciousness. The youth of the day were experimenting with psychedelics and other accessories, in an attempt to reach Higher Consciousness, to change the state of the individual consciousness, for entertainment and for spiritual purposes. At that time, I was concerned that the practices of some to “blast the ego” with very high doses of LSD, in particular, “for therapeutic purposes,” was ill-advised. The ego serves an important function in human consciousness. I still feel that these attempts at annihilating the ego so that it may reform in a more “open” structure were and are unnecessary. And that is because the effects these humans are seeking - diminishing the ego/intellect and achieving a direct perception of experience - are achievable through other methods, methods that do not include massive doses of these accessories. We list many such methods in my new books, for that matter. I think you get my point here.

Conscious Use

Now I do support conscious use of substances to attain the sublime states. In moderation, then, I see that this use of sacred plants, for example, or modern synthetic versions of these plants, and others, do serve a valuable function. This function is as a “door-opener,” so to speak. The experience does allow a novice explorer of the Unknown Reality a first glimpse of the territory ahead. Used wisely, you see, the psychedelics do offer a sort of “bootstrap” spiritual awakening. This I endorse, then.

My colleague Mark, is well acquainted with these substances. We are often in agreement on the benefits he has enjoyed in his past role as a child of the 60’s, indulging and over-indulging. Indeed, it is our mutual assessment that it was the psychedelic experiences that served as the door-opener for Mark, allowing him to develop the skills of conscious dissociation that now serve him so well in this collaboration of ours.

The Young Lead the Rest

Now it is a truism that it is most likely the young who most readily embrace these practices. So we do see millions of young people currently, just as they did in the 60’s, engaging in the use of substances to achieve the Trance State in the dance milieu. The neotribal movement is expressed here, also, as the Reincarnational Existences of tribal life from your distant past are re-experienced NOW. We have told you before that The Shift entails a remembering of your experiences in your other lives, your Simultaneous Existences. This expression of the neotribal movement in the trance dance is a remembering, then, of the other lives, the lives spent in a tribal existence.

Community

These memories of the tribal existence are a reminder of the value of belonging to a close-knit community. This sense of kinship with the collective has been, in a way, “engineered” out of the modern human consciousness. The basic notion that you are ONE, has been replaced with “every man for himself.” I think you can see that. It is obvious that the so-called “frontier spirit” that helped the American, in particular, conquer the peoples and the lands of North America, forced you to abandon these ideas of Oneness. The natives were thought of as less-than-human. They were not your kin, and so could be eliminated.

Now sense this Turnaround in which the practices of the Native Americans are emulated by your youth, as they did in the 60’s’. The spiritual practices of the ancient peoples are being reestablished in modern times in this cycle of awakening. The notion of religion and spirituality is being deconstructed and rebuilt under these potent influences.

magicians shamans witches healers

Now in the spiritual domain it is the participants in the mainstream religions who drive the status quo. They have the numbers, in sense, and so the collective manifestation is one of relative stability, in spite of the powerful forces at work on the inside, you might say, within consciousness. Yet the big churches are continually being challenged by the independents, what we have called the magicians, shamans witches and healers of all types. It is attractive to a life-long Christian, for example, to dream of a spiritual practice that does not entail allegiance to a vengeful god. So these independents are offering something different to the people and large numbers are responding.

The neotribal expression is apparent here also as you see the people choosing to be seen by a local, independent Practitioner, much in the same way that your ancestors would visit the local medicine woman or shaman for healing and for contact with Spirit.

In Conclusion

Modernity Movement

During 2012 and beyond the Modernity Movement in the mainstream religions will attempt to make church a viable option for people again. The challenges to the authoritarian practices by the rise of the Goddess religions will continue, then, as bleedthroughs to the times of the Divine Matriarchy influence the common citizen. As humanity awakens to a more positive role for the average person, the patriarchy will suffer and the Divine Feminine will be accented.

Generalist Spirituality

The Generalist Spirituality Movement will continue to gain popularity as people drop out of the big churches in search of something that Resonates with their highest desires.

Neotribal

The neotribal expressions and the youth movement expressions will flourish. Independent practitioners from the alternative paths will continue to provide an opportunity for contact with the numinous for explorers of consciousness.

The Shift - A Cycle of Renewal

The Shift in Consciousness is a naturally occurring, though infrequent, expression of All That Is in the 3rd Dimension. On a personal level, you are thrust into chaos. You are compelled to address your Issues and learn your Lessons. You begin to observe your activities in the other lives you are living throughout time.

Part VI

Probable Negative Events

As your emotional climate becomes unstable, then, the climate of the planet becomes unstable...

Keep Your Cool

In all of our forecasts over the last several years, we have suggested that great Earth Changes are in store for you as a resident of Earth. The dramatic earthquakes, storms, volcanic activity and unseasonal weather events are the result of human thought and emotion, to some degree. As your emotional climate becomes unstable, then, the climate of the planet becomes unstable. “Keep your cool,” then, to counteract climate change. I am only being somewhat humorous in this message.

Negative Projections

Also, you have your prophecies in the mass media proclaiming great disasters that await you in 2012. This additional element adds to an already volatile mix of Realty Creation energies in terms of the collective manifestation. Let me say at the outset, that I do not foresee in your probable future for the short term, global disasters as depicted in your provocative media. This doomsday scenario appears to be less of a probability than last year.

Decreasing Momentum

Great gains have been made in the public sphere, within what you might call the collective sphere of human consciousness globally. By this I mean, there is now hope where there was not so much positive expectation last year at this time. This change of heart that is created through the consensus expression of humans of good will, primarily, has a direct influence on the probable future. The momentum for the creation of disastrous Earth Changes has lessened. The fearful urgency within the collective has dissipated, somewhat.

Fear Vanishes

Now I repeat, all of you are being changed by the Shift. One of the first things to go is fear. The “free-floating anxiety” that has plagued you fades and is replaced by a cool and calm acceptance. Yes, there is anticipation here. This is normal. Yet the anticipation is for something great and good to occur. I think you know what I mean.

Anger Subsides

Additionally, it is becoming easier to resist the pull to anger when your Issues are triggered. This is true in a quite dramatic fashion for those of you who are awakening at this time. However, ALL of you, including the skeptics and naysayers, are loosening up. You are feeling the effects of Love with a capital “L” in the collective consciousness.

Global Warming

What you call the Global Warming phenomenon, however, will continue to influence your world. Your problems with pollution will continue to adversely affect you. This is denial on the part of whole nations, you see. It is denial of the obvious. So even though you will escape the Earth Changes caused by the turbulent thoughts and emotions of humanity, you will continue to suffer the health effects issue. In 2013 the leaders will begin to release their denial. It will be a matter of life and death at that time. They will be forced to reconsider.

Weather Control

Another aspect of Earth Changes, one that we have discussed briefly in our books, is that of weather modification and the intended and unintended consequences of allowing your military and corporations to modify the weather locally, nationally, globally. This effort is out of control at this time. It is a runaway train of environmentally destructive influences. The operation of this project is secret and your leaders are not allowed to comment on this subject.

Shadow Government

Now here is where we see the Secrets Revealed phenomenon at work in 2012 and beyond as the common citizen demands answers. We are speaking of a worldwide effort that is now gaining momentum. I see a series of whistle blowers - Truth Tellers - who will reveal the inner workings of your chemtrail project and weather modification and communication network. Here the Shadow Government will be found “at the wheel,” so to speak: the usual suspects, you might say. These agencies operate outside of the jurisdiction of your Federal and State governments, yet they use your governments to sustain and enlarge this global net of control and surveillance.

Negative Event

Briefly, there is a high probability that this Shadow Government will create an event that will frighten the populace. This may be a bizarre weather event that is predicted and then created. This Shadow Government is coming forward, therefore, in 2012, to OPENLY challenge the elected officials. Now, in some cases, they are one and the same. I will leave it at that for now.

Creating War

In a related issue, the leaders in your governments are creating an opportunity for war in the Middle East. The Industrialized Nations will once again attack a nation there in order to acquire its resources. It is the agenda of this Shadow Government, and all of your leaders, save a handful, are collaborating.

Now let us bring this back to the basics, again. You are a Reality Creator, Dear Reader. You are responsible if your government goes to war, bullies nations, brutalizes the people of those nations. You are responsible. Also, it is your duty, from my perspective, now, to STOP your government from creating wars. I am speaking to the developed nations, but primarily to the citizens of the USA. You ARE the US government, Dear Reader: the government in the microcosm, then, and your input has a great influence in the collective.

Nonphysical Beings

In several of our new books I speak of the distaste with which we in the nonphysical world have for the brutal warlike leaders in your timeframe. It is a shame that those leaders could just as easily be providing for you a veritable “paradise on Earth,” rather than this hell of perpetual war and retribution.

Direct Democracy

At first, the rise of Direct Democracy will be stifled by the Federal powers in the USA and by the national powers elsewhere. During 2012, however, several of the States in the US will support this movement openly, setting the stage for dramatic protests across the US. These protests will be decidedly non-violent and this dedication to high ideals - the Virtues of Humanity - will stimulate interest in this Direct Democracy movement in all of the States.

State's Rights

Ultimately, I see that it will be in the individual States of the US that this issue of Direct Democracy, accountability, justice for the average citizen will be determined. After a year of tense resistance by the Federal government, I see that they will relent and allow the States to deal with this movement as they may. Eventually, within a few years time, there is a high probability that this movement worldwide will succeed in renewing the democracies of the US and of the other nations who aspire to the democratic ideal.

Internet

In our last two forecasts I noted the probability that your Internet might be compromised by your governments in collusion with the communication corporations. This has occurred and you are now faced with the possibility of being censored at any time in your communications online. In 2012 it does appear that you are in for some difficulties in maintaining your rights to freedom of expression on the electronic media. Because an authoritarian regime is in place at this time, you will be forced to “toe the line,” in a sense.

However, I do see that with the Secrets Revealed cycle of restoration in full swing, there is a good possibility that the Negative Leaders will be culled from the Congress in time. I see that your advocates for freedom of expression will demand that the electronic media and the Internet be kept free from interference and corporate control. They will be successful to a great degree. However, it will be an ongoing challenge to maintain your freedoms as the Negative Leaders are extracted from office.

Contagion

In our forecast for 2011 we noted the probability for the release of a contagion in the US by a group affiliated with the Shadow Government. This did occur on several occasions. I will leave it to the reader to investigate these instances, if they wish. Now in your 2012 there will be other such experiments done on the American population. Most of these experiments will emerge as predicted flu outbreaks. Some, though, will be dubbed “mysterious“ and “unknown” viruses, that have attacked you “out of the blue,” you see. I encourage our readers to be on the look-out for these experiments. All the while, of course, keeping yourself free from the effects of these substances through continuing thoughts of protection, safety, vitality, health, and so on.

Martial Law

There is a high probability that the Federal Government in the US will experiment with exploring Martial Law as a way to control the Direct Democracy movement. From my perspective, these attempts will be feeble ones, for they do not wish to awaken the “sleeping giant” of the American populace. Time will tell, however.

Epilogue

Thank you for joining us on our voyage. I trust that you have gained something from our book of prophecy and Reality Creation theory. Now do remember that this is not the final word, not by any means. Nothing is certain in your world, for you and your colleagues in physical reality are the moment-to-moment creators of that world. Your input determines the outcome of ANY event in the 3rd Dimension.

In this way, your attention to the positive in your mental environment assists in the creation of the New World we are documenting in our new books. I Seth have nothing to do with it. I am merely showing you the probabilities, the possibilities that exist for you.

With that I will say goodbye until our next meeting within the pages of these books.

Q and A with Seth

It is on this premise of a return to self-authority, that I and others may prophesize a POSITIVE manifestation for humanity...

Herman via our network: Hi Mark: I have purchased Seth eBooks in the past and I'm looking forward to Seth's new release. Here is my question (and my wish): In the future, will the people of the United States and other countries begin to think of themselves more as World citizens and less as citizens of a certain country and work more in collaboration and be less competitive? As so many on your planet are anxiously waiting on what will happen next year and after, discussing the subject among friends, etc., it sort of creates its own reality. This seems to add greatly to whatever might have happened when people were not as aware of the predictions of the Mayans and others. And isn't it so that this actually drives the coming events?

12-24-2011 3:20 PM

The answer to your question is this: As you know as a reader of my new messages and as a seeker generally, you are already One. All of you - the humans living on Earth at this time and at ALL times, for that matter - are, indeed, connected. To use a term we are fond of in the new material, you are all “hard wired” to Source: All That Is. You are from All That Is and you are created in your system from units of energy – the Consciousness Units we have called them – that are telepathic and holographic. Thus, my dear friend, you are ALWAYS connected one-to-another.

This works extra-dimensionally, also, when we think in terms of the past, present, and future as dimensions, dimensions of time. You are not only quite literally connected to all humans in your timeframe, but you are connected to all of your reincarnational existences.

Now “here is the rub,” to coin a phrase.... When you incarnate to learn your life Lessons, YOU FORGET that you are a part of All That Is, and you forget this kinship with all of humanity. You forget so that you may encounter your Lessons of Value Fulfillment: the reasons you came to Earth in the first place, you see. Now at the risk of giving you more information than you require (Hu-morously), YOU are awakening at this time, Herman. You are looking for answers and you are finding them. On impulse, you see, you are investigating spiritual literature, let us say, and being driven forward in your investigation, as you “put two and two together,” as you follow your own clues and participate in your own individual awakening experience. We call this “remembering the Ancient Wisdom” in my books. In a sense, you are remembering that you are connected to all of creation, and so, indeed, it follows that you, as an expression of ATI in the Third Dimension, are connected to all humans in your world. This is our baseline, then.

Now the second part of this question... You are a participant in a sub-culture that we might call the New Agers, the metaphysicians, the magicians, shamans, witches and healers of all types. As a creator of realities, you create your Personal Reality Field. As a part of the broader collective, you give input to the collective manifestation. Currently this New Age collective is driving a manifestation tinged with information from this Mayan prophecy and from other Gestalts of Consciousness. And yes, you are quite correct, there is a sort of feedback, here, in which these essential elements that create the Positive Manifestation, the New World, and so on, Resonate within the collective consciousness of the group. These elements “endorse” one another, so to speak, so that the feedback, the outcome in reality, accentuates these, at one time, less-recognized creative elements. You then observe these outcomes and say to yourself, “Ah The Shift is manifest,” or perhaps, “Just as I had hoped, the Mayan prophecy is realized in the exalted rather than the negative manifestation.” When you do this, you are commenting on your own Reality Creation activities. I think you can see this. You are well on your way in these esoteric endeavors. 3:45 PM

Brad From the Internet

Hi Mark,

A question for the book. Many channels at the moment are creating fear around what could happen in the 2012 alignment, rather than coaching humans purely to just go for the best consciousness. Is this fear a reflection of the consciousness prevailing in humanity? What is the most effective way we can abate fear and stress in the population, as an individual?

Seth has inspired me to go for more and stopped me from wasting my life. He knows this. It's good for you to know as well.

Good luck with the book.

12-24-2011 4:05 PM

Thank you for your kind words. I do wonder sometimes if anyone is listening, or if I am merely speaking to the wind. (Humorously) This is an attempt at humor, Mark. Please note that. Now let me answer your question. In a word, "Yes." Fear and anger predominate in your system. On a basic level, that is why you are IN this system, you see: to react to fear and anger. How you react to these basic emotions determines, "to the nth degree," as we say, the length and quality of your stay in 3D Reality for this current self of yours: you the reader. This may be a teachable moment for us, here... If you respond to this very natural emotion of fear, by creating more fear, more anxiety, more Negative Emotion, you are not getting the message. If you respond to the quite normal, and let us be blunt, extremely prevalent emotion of anger, by re-creating more anger, intensifying this Negative Emotion, ramping up the energy, you see, you are not learning the Lesson. I will leave it at that and refer you to my many words on the subject I have deposited in this body of work. (Humorously)

Now, prevalent, yes, in the extreme. You are swimming in a pool of Negative Emotion. You have allowed these quite normal phenomena to predominate in your collective and personal realities, WITHOUT CHAL-LENGING THEM. Your authorities use these primal Feeling-Tones to control you. They are conjured up, in fact, by the relentless suggestions in your Negative Media that you are in peril, that you are to be attacked by your fellow humans. This applies to all of you in the modern world, but primarily I am speaking of the developed nations.

As a master pianist plays eloquently his or her instrument, the purveyors of controlling propaganda play upon the collective consciousness of the people. I am including your advertising media here, as well, for it is primarily the emotions of fear, anger, envy, greed, and so on, that are cultivated by these corporations and their media outlets to convince you that you need to consume, consume, consume. The authorities of power in your world are expert at triggering the fear response, the anger response, in you the reader. To the degree that you respond to these communications, you are not free. I trust that you understand me here.

Now fortunately for all of you, as I have said, The Shift is occurring at this time. The shift in consciousness will result in an informed consumer, voter, average citizen. Remember, as the Ancient Wisdom is remembered by great numbers of you - and this is happening

NOW - these propaganda efforts cease to have an effect on your consciousness. This is a two part process: first, the authority is discovered to have “feet of clay.” They are found out to be liars, for the most part, and they are being uncovered now at this time. The communications that come from these Negative Media, therefore, are being rejected. The authorities are being found to be dishonest, manipulative, and so on.

The second part of the awakening includes the individual awareness of innate power and authority. It is a distant memory that comes to mind, here. It is a memory of a time when human beings were closer to the Source, to All That Is, than they are currently. In fact, this sense of being “hard-wired” to Source, to the Divine, to the Higher Centers of Awareness, is what will assist you in the coming years. It is on this premise of a return to self-authority, that I and others may prophesize a POSITIVE manifestation for humanity. This prediction, however, is predicated on the continuing efforts of the do-gooders, the New Agers, the caretakers of humanity and your Mother Earth. Yet the probabilities are quite good for this Positive Manifestation to emerge quite authentically in the collective demonstration of humanity over the next few years.

Then what is the most effective way the individual may abate fear and stress? Please do not surrender to the suggestions of the Negative Media and the authorities behind them. Do not allow these institutions to control you by triggering your Negative Emotions. In my books, we speak of many techniques you may use to neutralize, or even polarize these communication streams. The most basic approach is to cultivate a sense of Loving Understanding and Courage in your waking reality. The Negative Emotions cannot grow within a consciousness founded on Loving Understanding and Courage.

Though on the way toward perfecting this state of consciousness, you may also use some of our other techniques: The Consecutive Positive Assessment method empowers the student to transform the Negative Emotions into their opposites. Simply, every moment in your existence has positive value for you. Your job description (Humorously) is to find it and to focus on it. Because you create your reality, and you receive what you focus on, you soon find that you are no longer prone to defaulting to the Negative Emotions, but you are quite able to habitually default to the positive. Try it. It works and as you perfect it, you are also modeling for those in your Personal Reality, the proper orientation in the 3rd Dimension. 4:50 PM

Teekha asks from the Internet

Seth - On the 1st of Jan 2012 and after how can I recognize in my reality events or feelings that I should take note of and respond to? Is it simply if something resonates or how can I be more aware?

12-23-2011 11:43 AM

Yes, I realize that many of you are expecting to meet a completely transformed world on the first of the new year. Let us get back to basic principles and attempt an explanation of this belief.

Now you DO create your reality according to your beliefs about what is possible. For this reason, many of you quite legitimately claim to have spoken with Angels, various deities, Nature Spirits, and so on. You have cultivated a belief in these Energy Bodies, and so, because you do create your own reality, you are able to see them, hear them, communicate with them, and so on. This is a collaborative process. It is similar to what Mark and myself engage in when we create our material. It is a matter of expanding the beliefs enough to entertain the possibility of, for example, a completely transformed reality on the first day of 2012.

From your question, I sense that you are unclear on how to behave in the new year. My advice is to follow the suggestions in my new books to behave, to think, to imagine, with the highest good for ALL as your motto, your reason for being, you see. This state of consciousness of the Visionary, the Lover of humanity is nurtured, in a sense, within the Resonance phenomenon. Already, as you know, there are great numbers of you attending to this focus upon the positive. Thus, you are achieving, as a collective of do-gooders, a state of Resonance that has great momentum. It becomes easier to keep a good thought, for example, when you are tuned-in to this waveband, this frequency of creation we call Resonance.

Now you are also becoming quite inner-directed as you respond to impulses from your probable future. This idealized state exists as a Best Case Scenario, something that you may look forward to for inspiration. You may also, as you know from reading my books, receive very practical advice from this Future Probable Self of yours, in the form of impulses. You expect the impulses to come to guide you towards the Positive Manifestation, and they do come. They come because you create your own reality. These impulses have positive emotion attached to them - elementary ecstasy - and so you enjoy receiving them and acting on them. This is the positive pole of the Resonance phenomenon, then.

Having said that, let us now describe the negative pole, the resonance with a small “r.” This Feeling-Tone is quite the opposite of ecstasy. It is an unpleasant feeling, a foreboding of coming negative Reality Creation. These impulses from your Future Probable Self are warning you to NOT do particular acts, to NOT concern yourself with particular matters. If you deny these messages and continue enacting the behaviors, responding to the images and thoughts, you will set yourself up for experiencing a negative reality. You will set everything in place, largely unconsciously, remember, for experiencing the negative events.

So conscious co-creation is key here for you in this coming age of instant manifestation. Be aware in the successive moments of your waking reality of what you are creating with your thoughts, with your entertained images, with your powerful emotions. Yes, be aware, and also, be in your Power Space with the Divine. As conscious co-creator with the Higher Gestalts of Consciousness, you have a profound influence on how your Personal Reality Field is created, and thus, on the quality of your current existence. 12:05 PM

Patric asks from the Internet

Will the cancer business be exposed?

Will there be a cure for heroin addicts?

12-26-2011 4:55 PM

Yes, we will answer these health-related questions with an eye towards reminding the reader of what they have seen before in my messages to humanity. In the books I wrote with Jane and her husband, you might remember that I told you that ALL illnesses are personal expressions of individual belief systems. This is true. If a human has been diagnosed with a malady such as cancer, it is a scene from a reincarnational drama: a Lesson for the individual. Each “case” of cancer, then, is unlike any other in created reality. This is so, because each of the so-called “victims” of this disease, co-creates the illness within their system, for very precise “reasons” according to inner criteria having to do with Value Fulfillment, emotional expression, Past Lives bleedthroughs, and a host of other contributing factors. All of you, therefore, who have cancer, have invited it, on some level, as a creative challenge, as something to learn from, in other words

Now I have said in the early works that the cancer information agencies that teach you how to identify the “signs” of cancer do you a great disservice. In this way, they are teaching you how to found this construct in your system, your body. The warnings are a subtle form of suggestion. The cancer industry, that includes your medical doctors, the drug manufacturers, and others, are complicit in this charade. They well know what they are doing. They know that it is good for business to present this cancer experience as mysterious, as something you “get” quite out of the blue, and so on.

I also suppose that you are referring to the attempt by the medical authorities in your world to suppress cancer cures. This is, of course, true. It is good for business to avoid a cure. Yet, let me say that ANYONE who finds themselves with this diagnosis may attempt a Turn-around within their system and heal themselves. This process entails an exploration of the true causes of the malady: the beliefs, the images, thoughts, and emotions that fill your consciousness and that you use as a creative template through which you fabricate your Personal Reality Field. This we cover in Thought Reality and other manuscripts.

The second question may be answered similarly. Briefly, the addict IS the cure for the malady. The addict must intervene within their moments of Reality Creation to supplant the mental material that supports addiction with the thoughts, images, emotions, that support recovery, health, spiritual awakening.

Let me just say that you will hear of many “new” techniques for treating addiction in 2012, from new drugs that will banish the cravings, to old shamanic modalities that will create a context for spiritual awakening in the patient. All techniques, however, will fail if the human does not change their beliefs. This is true of all maladies. It is belief change that is the curative agent. Thus the phenomenon known as spontaneous healing that sometimes occurs in the midst of a spiritual transformation. Belief change is occurring here also. In this case, it is an expansion of the belief system to include the possibility of spontaneous healing through divine intervention.

Sonny asks from the Internet

Will Alien disclosure occur next year?

How will the energy and transportation change after 2012?

How will the money system change after 2012?

Do we have a chance of space travel to visit the other planets within next 10 years?

12-26-2011 8:55 PM

Now we have answered your questions in the past. We shall answer these new questions in a similar fashion: Alien Disclosure. Yes, you are meeting yourself from the future. YOU are the alien. Do you see the simple truth, here? This is a common type of interdimensional experiencing. It will become quite more common in the future, in that, millions of you will have the contact experience.

Energy and transportation will change in 2012 and beyond. As you know, your engineers and scientists are rushing to devise new, non-polluting forms of transportation vehicles. To the degree that you can weed-out the oil industry saboteurs of the new energy forms, you will enjoy advancements in this field. It will be a turning point for your auto industry when the decision is made to stop producing the polluting engines. This will occur within five years.

Now I suggested in a recent manuscript that the post-shift environment will see the discovery of a new crystalline material in your Earth that will be “spun” into mammoth crystals capable of creating, storing, and transmitting electrical energy. It is the electric energy that exists in your dimension. The discoveries will occur in 2012. The research will commence in later years.

The money system is changing worldwide as “faith” in the governments diminishes. As I have said, localities will create their own mediums of exchange. They will challenge the governments in doing so. What you call The Markets, including the Stock Markets of the world, will undergo profound changes in the coming years. Those that do not adapt to the realities of the New World will crash permanently. Those that clean up their business practices according to the new ethical considerations, will endure.

Space travel will be commonplace in the near future. However, you will not need a spaceship. You will use your creative consciousness, as humans have been doing for centuries. This necessitates an expansion of beliefs, enough so that these thoughts of limitation, scarcity, and fear are transcended. It takes Courage to explore the Unknown Reality. 9:10 PM

Ritual of Sanctuary

The Ritual of Sanctuary was presented to readers in our book on Soul Evolution when we first began to emphasize direct exploration of the Unknown Reality. We felt that the reader would require some personalized protection in their experimentation.

The most simple form of the Ritual is to imagine, prior to psychic pursuits, a golden Light surrounding you. Nothing harmful can penetrate this field of Light. It has a healing protective influence. You may certainly use this simplified form while you go about creating your own Ritual.

The object here is to generate positive energies with your creative consciousness. Try listing on a piece of paper your positive beliefs and ideas that denote security, peace, and protection. The next step would be to, perhaps artistically, distill these potent concepts down into an image, statement, or physical object that Resonates with the protective energies. Naturally you may include gestures, visualizations, or any other evocative materials. Practice your Ritual until you can create at-will the state of Sanctuary within your own consciousness. Only you will know when you are successful.

Glossary

Definitions for the concepts Seth discusses in this book.

All That Is - The energy source from which all life sprung throughout the multitude of Universes, transcending all dimensions of consciousness and being part of all. Also referred to as the Logos and Evolutionary Consciousness.

Ancient Wisdom - The knowledge of the magicians, shamans, witches and healers of the past.

Awakening - As the Ancient Wisdom is remembered by humanity, an awareness of the greater reality is experienced by individuals.

Beliefs - Ideas, images, and emotions within your mental environment that act as filters and norms in the creation of Personal Realities.

Bleedthroughs - Momentary experiencing of lives being lived in other timeframes and other systems of reality.

Co-creation - You co-create your reality with the limitless creative energies of All That Is.

Consciousness Units (CUs) - The theorized building blocks of realities. Elements of aware energy that are telepathic and holographic.

Courage - Courage and Loving Understanding replace fear and anger in the creation of Positive Realities.¹¹⁰

Denial - The ego/intellect prevents the learning of Lessons by denying the truth of the matter.

Dimensions - Points of reference from one reality to the other with different vibrational wavelengths of consciousness.

Divine Day - The student attempts to live a complete waking day while maintaining contact with the Energy Personality.

Divine Will - The will is potentiated through ongoing contact and communication with Beings of Light. Also called Intent.

Ego/Intellect - The aspect of the personality that attempts to maintain the status quo reality.

Ecstasy - The positive emotion experienced in contact with the Divine.

Embodiment - Precepts are lived in the creation of improved realities.

Energy Personality - A being capable of transferring their thought energy inter-dimensionally to physical beings and sometimes using the physical abilities of those beings for communication.

Entity - Being not presently manifested on the physical plane. Also known as a Spirit.

Essential Identity - A truthful representation of the personality as perceived with the Inner Senses.

Feeling-Tone - Thoughts, images, sounds and assorted sensory data that represent a particular state of consciousness, event, or existence.

Fourth-Dimensional Shift - Consciousness expands as the individual experiences an awareness of all Simultaneous Existences. Also called Unity of Consciousness Awareness.

Gestalts of Consciousness - Assemblages of Consciousness Units into Reality Constructs of all types.

gods - Consciousness personalized and projected outward into reality. A self-created projection of the developing ego.

Holographic Insert - Teaching aid of the non-physical beings. Multisensory construct experienced with the Inner Senses.

Incarnation - To move oneself into another life experience on the physical plane.

Inner Sense - The Soul's perspective. Both the creator and the perceiver of Personal Realities.

Intellectualization - The aspect of the psyche that attempts to figure things out so that the status quo is maintained.

Intention - See Divine Will.

Lessons - Chosen life experiences of the Soul for further spiritual evolution.

Light Body - The etheric body of refined light.

Love - Love with a capital "L" is the force behind manifestation in the Third Dimension.

Moment Point - The current empowered moment of awakening. Exists as a portal to all points past, present and future and all Simultaneous Lives.

Mystery Civilizations - Foundational civilizations largely unknown to modern science. Some examples are Atlantis, Lemuria and GA.

Negative Emotion - Habitual creation of negative emotions creates enduring negative realities.

Negative Entities - Negative energies that roam the Universes in pursuit of their own power to dominate.

Percept - Perception creates reality in the Third Dimension through the Inner Senses.

Personal Reality Field - The radius within your self created world within which you have the most control in the creation of Reality Constructs.

Precept - Empowered concepts of manifestation. Example: you create your own reality.

Reality - That which one assumes to be true based on one's thoughts and experiences. Also called Perceived Reality.

Reality Creation - Consciousness creates reality.

Reincarnational Drama - Soul Family drama enacted to teach the participants a Lesson in Value Fulfillment.

Scientist of Consciousness - The researcher studies the phenomena within the Personal Reality Field by testing hypotheses in experimentation. See Precept.

Observer Perspective - Self-created aspect of consciousness that sees beyond the limitations of the ego/intellect. An intermediary position between the ego and the Soul Self.

Seth - An energy personality essence that has appeared within the mental environments of humans throughout the millennia to educate and inspire.

Simultaneous Lives - The multidimensional simultaneous experiences of Souls in incarnation.

Soul - The non-physical counterpart to the physical human body, personality, and mentality. The spiritual aspect of the human.

Soul Evolution - The conscious learning of Lessons without denial or intellectualization.

Soul Family - The group of humans you incarnate with lifetime after lifetime to learn your Lessons together.

Spiritual Hierarchy - Beings of Light who have mastered multidimensional levels of experience throughout the Universes and have moved on to higher service in the evolution of all Souls.

The Christ - The embodiment of The Christ in your World. Also called World Teacher. First described in Seth Speaks.

The Council - Members of the Spiritual Hierarchy. Highly evolved beings that advise Souls on incarnations for their spiritual evolution.

The New World - The Positive Manifestation.

The Vanguard - Advocates for humanity and Mother Earth who incarnate together to lead progressive movements of various kinds.

Third Dimension - The physical plane of Earthly existence.

Trance State - The relaxed, focused state of awareness that allows the Scientist of Consciousness to conduct experiments and collect data.

Value Fulfillment - Consciousness seeks manifestation of itself into all realities via the fulfillment of all values.

Visionary - Reincarnated magicians, shamans, witches and healers in this current time-frame.
